Unload All Cargo
Without Damage
From Red Shells

BY ROBERT TUCKMAN

Taipei —(AP)—The Chinese nationalists succeeded today in delivering two more shiploads of supplies to besieged Quemoy islands through a hail of communist fire.

The nationalist defense ministry said two LSTs (landing ship, tank) unloaded all their cargo without suffering damage.

The ships were escorted across Formosa strait by nationalist warships and by vessels of the Seventh fleet which remained outside the 3-mile limit as usual.

The giant American aircraft carrier Essex arrived in Formosan waters yesterday after steaming one-quarter of the way around the world from the Sixth fleet off Lebanon. It joined the Seventh fleet which the U. S. Navy calls the most powerful single naval force ever assembled.

The 33,000-ton Essex reached Formosan waters 20 days after it arrived at the Suez canal with the destroyers Sherman, Roan, Halle and Royal on the way from one crisis to another.

Send as Replacement
The Essex is slated to replace one of the four attack carriers already in the Seventh fleet. The four ships, like the Essex capable of sending nuclear bombs winging toward an enemy at a moment's notice, are the Midway, Hancock, Shangri La and Lexington.

Red shelling went into its twenty-sixth day and apparently is aimed now at knocking out Quemoy's artillery which has been trying to silence red guns on the mainland.

The defense ministry said the 1,861 communist shells that hit overnight were mostly of deeper penetration quality than the anti-personnel fragmentation shells used earlier.

The reds now are using Soviet-made 203 mm. and 212 mm. guns, instead of the 152 mm. weapons previously aimed at Quemoy, ordnance experts reported.

Big Cargo Plane Crashes, Explodes

Oklahoma City —(AP)—A giant air force cargo plane crashed and exploded on landing at Tinker Air Force base early today. There were no fatalities.

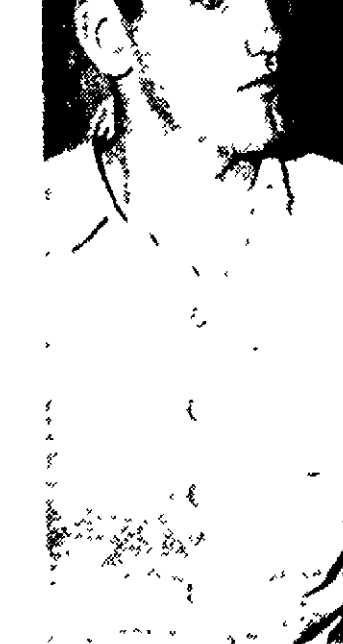

Base officials said there were eight men aboard the C124 Globemaster from Donaldson AFB at Greenville, S. C. Four men were listed as critically injured and four were not seriously hurt.

Names of the injured were not released immediately. The plane crashed on the southeast runway as it landed. It caught fire.

Tinker was not a scheduled stop on the big plane's flight from Donaldson to Travis Air Force base in California.

There had been no hint of an emergency on the craft. One of the injured was to be flown to the Brook Army Medical center in San Antonio, Texas.

Field firemen had the flames under control a half hour after the accident.

Ike Praises Record of Montgomery

Newport, R. I. —(AP)—President Eisenhower sent a message to Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery today praising him for a distinguished wartime record and a great cold war contribution to the defense of the west.

Eisenhower's message was to be read by Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO supreme commander in Europe, at a Paris dinner honoring Montgomery on his retirement as deputy supreme commander.

Eisenhower and Montgomery have been close personal friends since World War II. The president said in his letter:

"After a long, honorable career you are relinquishing your post as deputy supreme allied commander in Europe."

"This occasion evokes many treasured memories of our close personal and professional association both in peace and in war. It brings to mind the way around the world from the Sixth fleet off Lebanon. It joined the Seventh fleet which the U. S. Navy calls the most powerful single naval force ever assembled."

Even before the North Atlantic treaty came into being, you devoted your energy, experience, and skill to the common defense. Through the years it has been a source of comfort and confidence to us all and to me personally to know that you were part of this endeavor.

"You take with you in retirement the heartfelt thanks and the very best wishes of your many friends and associates. With these I warmly include my own."

Truman Hits GOP Policies

Charge They Aim
At Prevention of Full Production

Atlantic City, N. J. —(AP)—Former President Truman accused the Republicans in Washington today of deliberately "following economic policies designed to prevent full production."

Truman told the United Steelworkers convention the Republicans wanted "a little unemployment" and the holding down of wages because "they think it makes for higher profits."

"They are trying to turn the clock back to the times of McKinley and Mark Hanna," Truman said. "They have done this deliberately."

The former president said U. S. Steel production had dropped from almost 100 million tons in 1950 to an estimated 82 million this year, and that in the same period Russian production had climbed from 30 million to an estimated 60 million.

Asserting the U. S. steel industry had been operating at 50 per cent of capacity most of this year, Truman said: "And now everybody is raising a great hullabaloo and proclaiming the end of the recession because steel has finally climbed until it is operating at more than 60 per cent of capacity."

"Think of it, nearly 40 per cent of the strength of a basic industry like steel going to waste—and people telling us 'the recession is over.'"

The assembly opened yesterday, electing Lebanon's foreign minister, Malik, as its president.

Malik's victory over Sudan's nationalist Foreign Minister Mohammed Ahmed Mahgoub supported by all the Arab League states but Lebanon, was seen as a triumph for the United States and its allies.

Malik won on the first ballot by a vote of 45-31—six votes more than the required majority of 39.

Just before the vote, Czechoslovakia announced she was pulling her delegate, Jiri Nosek, out of the race. She made clear the 9-nation Soviet bloc was throwing its support behind Mahgoub.

UN Faces Fight on Seating Red China

Deferment for Another Year
Probable; Malik Heads Assembly

United Nations, N. Y. —(AP)—The U. N.'s powerful steering committee today faced up to its first major test—the question of seating red China—after the election of Lebanon's pro-western Charles Malik as president.

The 21-nation committee was slated to take up the red China issue along with the Algerian independence dispute. Moscow radio and the Soviet press heralded the opening of the thirteenth general assembly with fresh demands for opposition—plus open Soviet support for Mahgoub—would cost Malik the election.

Debate over the red China issue undoubtedly will drag in the dispute over nationalist China's offshore islands in the Formosa strait.

Hope For Deferment
The United States was confident the U. N. will follow past procedure and vote to shelve the Peiping issue for another year. The Americans have made plain they are determined to prevent red China from "shooting its way" into the U. N.

France's dispute with Algeria is one of the touchiest issues facing this year's assembly. France has let it be known she will boycott any U. N. debate on demands by Algerian nationalists. France walked out of the assembly when the issue first came up in 1955.

The assembly opened yesterday, electing Lebanon's foreign minister, Malik, as its president.

State to Clear Way for Tribe

Legislature Must Help End Control,
Attorney Declares

Madison —(AP)—The attorney for the Menominee Indians said Tuesday it will be up to the 1959 legislature to provide legislation clearing the way for the end of federal control over the tribe.

Frederic Sammond of Milwaukee, told a legislative Menominee Indian study committee that the legislation can't be delayed until 1961 without creating all kinds of problems. Termination now is slated to become effective Dec. 31, 1960.

To expedite matters, Sammond requested formation of a special subcommittee to work as a liaison group between tribe attorneys and state officials.

Att. Gen. Stewart Honeck, committee chairman, said he felt the existing executive committee could do the job. The committee is made up of representatives of Oconto and Shawano counties.

Attorneys hope to have drafted by Nov. 1 the necessary termination legislation. They hope to have ready a month later the trust agreement and articles of tribal incorporation. The documents must be ready for presentation to federal officials by Feb. 1, 1959.

Asked if a constitutional amendment would be required to turn the Menominee reservation into Wisconsin's 72nd county, Sammond said every effort was being made to avoid it.

The committee is headed by Donald C. Rarick, a McKeesport, Pa., mill worker who opposed McDonald in the last international election but lost by a nearly 2-1 vote.

McDonald accused the committee last Monday of "dual unionism."

The statements were directed to members of a dues protest committee that has been speaking out against the USW leaders outside of the convention hall.

Alleges Invalid Ballots Helped To Elect Hoffa

Investigator Says
Over Half of Votes
Were Cast Illegally

Washington —(AP)—A senate rackets committee investigator testified today more than half of the votes that elected James R. Hoffa as president of the big teamsters union were cast illegally.

Pierre Salinger, the investigator, said he could prove—by the union's own constitution—illegality of 56.2 per cent of the votes for Hoffa at an international convention in Miami last October.

Salinger's testimony was given only a few hours after the teamsters executive board called for a new convention next February in an admitted move to rid itself of court-named supervising monitors.

The monitors promptly announced they will seek a court order to halt the move and to give them more authority in ordering what they consider needed reforms in the scandal-stricken union.

Hoffa, announcing the board's action, early this morning, described it as an effort to end the monitoring. He said he expects little or no opposition to his reelection as president.

Cites Constitution
Salinger based his charges of illegality in voting on the union's constitutional provisions governing election of delegates. Those provisions, he said, require that delegates be elected directly at membership meetings, or appointed by executive boards of locals with prior approval of the membership. He noted the constitution also provides for selection of delegates after issuance of a convention call but 30 days in advance of the convention.

On the basis of those provisions, he said, only 4.8 per cent of the votes for Hoffa were "definitely legal" and 56.2 per cent were "definitely illegal."

A floor fight also preceded adoption of a much-amended resolution which proposed formation of a committee of representatives of the association, the Wisconsin Cheesemakers association, and the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, to clarify and interpret present whey cream rules.

Firm Makes New Offer And UAW Members are Expected to Accept

Detroit —(AP)—Rank and file members of the United Auto Workers struck the Ford Motor Co. today.

They walked out as company and union negotiators talked past the 10 a. m. strike deadline with all reports saying a final agreement could be expected any minute.

UAW President Walter Reuther returned to the talks at 11 a. m. with the statement that he expected this "will be my last visit to the conference table. We are very near agreement."

Reuther said earlier this morning that Ford had improved its offer.

John S. Bugas, Ford's vice president for industrial relations, described the latest company move as "not a new offer" but rather a "refining and modifying process."

Carl Stellato, president of the 50,000-man Ford Local 600, biggest in the UAW, left the bargaining table shortly before the strike deadline. At the huge Rouge plant he told some 6,000 workers "the strike is on."

Throughout the vast Ford empire walkouts began from midnight on. By the strike deadline, 9 of 86 plants were closed. The rest were affected as the deadline time moved westward across the time zones.

Walkouts Start
Stellato told newsmen "the strike is on" and said he had received reports that walkouts were beginning at Rouge.

Stellato told newsmen the latest company offer is, "considering everything, generally good."

He said that the company had proposed a settlement of the retroactive pay issue, one of the major points at issue in the long negotiations, by offering to make its contract effective as of July 1. Ford workers had been without a contract since the old pact ran out June 1 and the union had demanded that any new agreement be retroactive to that date.

Stellato also said Ford had offered to increase its basic pensions from $2.25 to $2.35 a month per worker for each year of service. It also offered to continue the annual improvement factor which gives workers 6 cents an hour or 21 per cent of their hourly wage, whichever is greater.

The improvement factor is related to technological advances due to automation and other developments.

Seniority Question
Stellato said, "the biggest unsolved issue is plantwide seniority." This is the setup under which the union maintains that a man employed as a sweeper in one department of a factory should have seniority in another department in the same factory if his own department is abolished.

Stellato said grimly, "We are going to tell our members at the mass meeting that they will stay out until this seniority matter is settled."

At the stroke of 10 a. m. workers by the thousands poured from the gates at the Rouge plant and massed at the Miller road overpass to hear Stellato. Some 20,000 are on the day shift.

Hold Federal Action In Integration Fight

President Eisenhower Hopes Public Pressure Will Force Reopening of Closed Schools

Newport, R.I. — President Eisenhower hopes public pressure will force reopening of closed schools in Arkansas and Virginia — and so has ordered federal legal action withheld "at this time."

The president's position in the school shutdown controversy over racial integration was set forth at the summer White House late yesterday.

After a 40-minute meeting with Eisenhower, Atty. Gen. Rogers told a news conference in connection with the wait-and-see policy the president approved:

"I think it is clear to anybody that to just try to solve this problem by legal methods alone, just by law suits, is not very satisfactory."

Withholding Decision

For that reason, Rogers said in a prepared statement, the administration "is withholding a decision as to appropriate legal moves at this time."

Rogers, the government's chief law enforcement officer, made it clear there is likely to be federal legal action later if the schools closed in protest against the supreme court go-ahead on integration are not opened.

Rogers also talked of announced justice department plans to enlist the help of U. S. marshals for preservation of law and order in communities where there is resistance to admittance of Negroes to white schools.

Troops Not Out

But he did not rule out use of federal troops again if the marshals should find themselves unable to check violence such as broke out in Little Rock, Ark., a year ago. That violence caused Eisenhower to dispatch troops to Little Rock's Central High school.

Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus ordered four Little Rock high schools closed shortly after the supreme court last Friday called for integration to proceed without delay at Central high. One Virginia school also has been shut down as a result of the court decision.

Referring to the Eisenhower-Rogers meeting, Faubus said last night in Little Rock:

"I have always maintained that the use of federal troops is illegal. They know it is illegal and that is why they are trying to avoid it."

"But," he added, "there is no way to stop the illegal use of force when that force is overwhelming."

'Divide and Conquer'

In Virginia, Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, when told of the administration hope that public pressure will force opening of the schools, commented:

"It is the old familiar technique of divide and conquer."

Then in a reference to Russia's premier, Almond added:

"I am sure this would meet with the full applause and approval of Mr. Khrushchev — whoever he is."

Rogers, reflecting the hope of the president and himself that public pressure will bring about reopening of the schools without legal intervention by the federal government, said in his statement:

"I advised the president that

Faubus Raps Clergymen as Leftwingers

Some Brainwashed, Support Communists, Governor Maintains

BY ROBERT E. FORD

Little Rock, Ark. — Gov. Orval E. Faubus Tuesday attacked segments of the clergy as leftwingers and repeated his defiance of the federal government in Little Rock's seething integration dispute.

Faubus told a newsman, in reply to a question about some Presbyterian minister's opposition to his policies, that he knew a large number of pastors in that church had been brainwashed by leftwingers and communists.

He added that he firmly believed some clergymen were supporters of communist views.

Angered by the charge, a group of Arkansas Presbyterian ministers and laymen issued a denial and a demand for Faubus' apology.

The governor's aides said Tuesday night that he had no comment on the demand.

Will Not Surrender

At the news conference where he lambasted the churchmen, Faubus reiterated that he would close court-integrated schools whenever he felt it necessary.

"I will not surrender to federal integration orders or the NAACP," Faubus declared. He closed Little Rock's four high schools after the U. S. supreme court last Friday ordered an immediate resumption of integration at Central high.

The governor said he looked skeptically on any attempt to mediate the current federal-state deadlock over integration here. He said that to the federal government, mediation meant knuckling under to federal viewpoints.

However, Faubus added that he always stood ready to mediate the impasse. Baptist Evangelist Billy Graham, for instance, would find him a willing listener, the governor said.

Faubus also hinted that he had a concrete plan for reopening the high schools but added he wouldn't reveal it until he felt the time was ripe.

He advanced the date of a special election on integration here from Oct. 7 to Sept. 27 Tuesday.

The governor said he did this to get the election out of the way so classes could resume. Voters will cast ballots either for or against integration of all Little Rock schools and a majority of qualified voters — not a simple majority — must approve integration of schools.

Human Factors

"Such efforts indicate that the important human factors of good judgment and civic responsibility, to which the president has referred on several occasions in the past, are beginning to play a much more important role."

"It seems inconceivable that a state or community would rather close its public schools than comply with the decisions of the supreme court of the United States. The reports received from the communities involved indicate that the serious impact of what it means to have the public schools closed is beginning to be keenly felt and its significance more fully appreciated."

Rogers declined to provide any clue as to just what kind of legal action the federal government may take if the schools are not reopened without it.

Teenagers With Clubs, Knives Break Up Youth Center Dance

Kansas City — A mob of yelling, cursing teenagers armed with clubs, knives and a shotgun terrorized a community center dance last night.

The hoodlums slashed tires and smashed windows of automobiles parked outside the Whatsoever Circle community house on East Twelfth street before police broke up the demonstration.

A squad of officers led by Lt. George McMeachin arrested 25 boys. All were released after receiving summonses to appear Saturday morning at the police Youth Bureau.

McMeachin said 10 of the boys, all aged 17, would be charged with disturbing the peace and face prosecution in municipal court if complaining witnesses can identify them.

All White Youths

Charges against the others, all 18 or younger, will be determined by the Youth Bureau. All those arrested are white, as were those at the dance.

Police didn't find a gun, but they seized clubs and knives.

Dowdy said the gang "seems to be a group of boys who are either not attending school or who are troublemakers. They show up only on nights when the dances are in progress. They stand outside and call the youths who are inside all kinds of names."

The community house is patronized by students at the three high schools on Kansas City's east side.

Two Airmen From the Portland, Ore., Air Base rescue unit begin a perilous journey into a dam diversion tunnel at Cougar, Wash., to try to rescue a worker trapped inside. A few minutes after this picture was taken, the raft capsized and the airmen were washed through the half-mile tunnel. Both were hurt, neither seriously.

Worker Clings to Rod In Tunnel for 7 Hours

Then Jumps Into Swift Water to Swim Over 2,000 Feet to Safety

Cougar, Wash. — A Portland steelworker — swept by raging water into a dark dam diversion tunnel in an accident that claimed the life of a companion — clung to a watery perch for seven hours yesterday.

After frantic efforts to rescue him failed, Charles R. McGhee loosened his handhold and swam with the current more than 2,000 feet to safety at the other end.

The drowning victim was Earl Snodderly, 31, Portland. McGhee, who is 53, Snodderly, and Frank Moser, of Beaverton, Ore., were thrown into the water near the mouth of the swift hydroelectric project on the Lewis river at 11:40 a.m. when a beam they were riding suddenly dropped.

Clings To Rod

Moser was pulled to safety by other workers. Minutes later, Snodderly's body appeared at the other end of the 2,900-foot tunnel. Then frantic efforts began to rescue McGhee, who could be seen some 400 feet inside the tunnel — knee deep in frigid water and clinging to a steel rod that had been left there when workmen drilled the diversion burrow through a mountain.

Several attempts were made to float boats and rafts, with ropes attached, down to McGhee. But the rafts smashed up as they rammed against the sides of the 35-foot wide tunnel.

Later in the day a rescue team from the Portland air base arrived with a large life-raft. The airmen attempted to shoot the rapids in the tunnel, hoping to snatch McGhee as they passed by him. But the current upended the raft and both the airmen — Lt. Arthur Bennett and Sgt. Richard Grigsby, both of Portland — were swept through the entire length of the tunnel. Both were banged up but not seriously injured.

Takes His Chance

Then McGhee, apparently seeing that his chances of rescue by raft were slim, decided to jump and take his chances. Shouting "Here I come. Here I come," he plunged into the dark rapids at 6:40 p.m.

Later at the hospital he said he prayed all the way through the tunnel and "all the time I was in there." A nurse at the hospital quoted him as saying: "I was under water for at least a hundred feet. And I was swept under a number of times as I was washed out of there."

Nine men have been killed working on the project since construction began in May, 1956.

Truman Says GOP 'Thrill' Is Myth of Press

Claims Republicans Spend Even More Than Democrats

New York — Harry S. Truman said today "the myth of Democratic extravagance and Republican thrift would be exploded" if the press did a better job of informing the public about the budget.

The former Democratic president, here for the start of a speaking tour on behalf of New York state Democrats, made the remark to the New York Advertising club.

The occasion was a club luncheon celebrating the 50th anniversary of the University of Missouri's school of journalism.

Truman, whose home is in Independence, Mo., said: "The press has the job of informing the people. This is not always the same thing as 'getting the news.'"

Cites Beliefs

"In great public affairs," he continued, "a practice of printing just the clashes or controversies may be a long way from informing the public as to what the issues really are."

"It is surprising what just a little factual background will do for a news story," he said. Truman added that the average newspaper reader, "if you asked him, would probably tell you:

(1) That Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Deal were wildly extravagant, (2) that the Democrats never balanced the budget, (3) that Republicans are very economical, and (4) that even if the present administration has had to carry heavy defense expenditures, it has cut domestic expenses to the bone."

"These are all myths, the legacy of 25 years of reading inadequate public information about the budget," Truman said.

He said the biggest New Deal budget before defense spending began was in 1939 and totaled $8,858,000,000. "Compare that with our present budget of $74 billion," he said.

Democrats Have Edge

Democrats outnumbered Republicans 49-47 before GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne was beaten in Maine.

Republican hopes of defeating Proxmire rest in uniting party strength behind Roland J. Steinle, their nominee, in a state that ordinarily is counted in the GOP column.

While they seemingly have nothing to cheer about in other contests against sitting Democrats, the Republicans have been perked up somewhat by canvasses elsewhere.

These indicate to them that some of the seats they now hold may not be in as much danger as they believed after Payne went down in Maine.

Privately Republican lieutenants say they regard only

GOP to Stage All-Out Program to Defeat Wisconsin's Proxmire

Republican Senatorial Campaign Decides State Offers Best Chance

BY JACK BELL

Washington — Republican strategists apparently have decided their best chance of defeating a Democratic senator lies in an all-out effort against Sen. William Proxmire in Wisconsin.

Field reports to the Republican senatorial campaign committee have pictured Proxmire as the most vulnerable of 13 Democratic senators whose seats are at stake in November. Proxmire was elected last year after GOP Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy died.

Although the Republicans are reluctant to talk about it, their surveys are said to show no other contest giving their party what they regard as an even chance of picking up a seat from the Democrats.

Since they already have lost one seat in Maine, the GOP campaigners would have to hold the remaining 20 they have at stake and gain two others to be in a position to control the new senate. In such circumstances they would do this with Vice President Nixon's tie-breaking vote.

Hopes Raised

Republican hopes of holding on to the seat Sen. Irving H. Ives is vacating in New York have been raised by nomination of Nelson Rockefeller as the party's candidate for governor, as well as the choice of Rep. Kenneth B. Keating as nominee for the senate.

safe—those in Nebraska, Ohio, North Dakota, Delaware, Wyoming and Vermont. They are only a little less certain, however, about Utah and Nevada. They are frankly worried about Indiana.

Reports from field workers indicate that GOP prospects have been looking up recently in Arizona, California, Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and in West Virginia, where two GOP places are being contested.

There has been no such cheering news, however, from Michigan, where GOP Sen. Charles E. Potter apparently is fighting a tough, uphill battle.

Approve Sale of $8,325,000 Bonds

Funds Earmarked for Construction Of University, College Buildings

Madison — The State Building commission gave final approval Tuesday for sale of the first bonds issued under a 1957 law easing the limits on borrowing money for the state building program.

Gov. Vernon Thomson, chairman of the commission, called the 8,325,000 bond issue "an entirely new venture" in financing state buildings.

The money raised by the bonds, issued by the State Agencies Building corporation, is earmarked for construction of buildings at the University of Wisconsin and the state colleges.

Heating Plant
The proceeds of the bond sale are earmarked as follows:

Superior State college education building and laboratory school, $1,827,000; and Health-physical education buildings at River Falls and Stevens Point state colleges, $1,000,000 each.

State Values Brown County At Half Billion
Report to Board Shows $14 Million Boost Over 1957

Green Bay — The 1958 state equalized or full, value of Brown county is $505,877,800, an increase of $14,754,640 over the 1957 total.

While the annual state report received by the county board today moved the county's equalized value for tax purposes above $500,000,000, the increase of $14,754,640 compared with an increase in the 1957 report of $34,743,160.

A total of $14,534,900 of the 1958 increase was attributed to increases in real estate valuation. The remainder of about $220,000 was from an increase in personal property valuation.

Charge Kamp Called Ike Communist

Ogden, Utah — Democratic national chairman Paul M. Butler said Tuesday night the author of a pamphlet attacking Walter Reuther once called President Eisenhower a communist.

Butler referred to Joseph Kamp of Westport, Conn., author of a pamphlet entitled "Meet the Man Who Plans to Rule America." The pamphlet is about Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union.

Kamp has said he published a pamphlet criticizing Eisenhower during the 1952 campaign.

feet from the bridge, an automatic device derailed the train.

Fusco and Moore said the train traveled another 200 feet before the brakes were applied.

From that point on, they said, the train's wheels bit hard into the bridgework and ties, indicating a desperate last-second effort to halt.

Mystified officials strove to find out why the train did not stop on the bridge before it reached the gap. Who applied the brakes? Why weren't they applied sooner?

A spokesman for the Jersey Central said its trains with two men in the cab are not equipped with a "dead man's control," a device that halts an engine immediately if the engineer releases his grip on the controls.

Divers, coast guardsmen and police worked into the early hours today to raise the coach as floodlights played on the glittering water.

Bodies taken from the water and from the train were wrapped in coverings by state police and removed to the Hudson county morgue for identification.

The coach itself was lifted up and swung into a lighter, next to the two coaches that were recovered earlier.

Tornadoes Hit Missouri Area; Damage Homes

St. Louis — A tornado knocked roofs off houses in south St. Louis during a rain-storm Tuesday. No injuries were reported.

Policeman Gerald FitzGibbon said he was parking his car when he saw the funnel-shaped cloud roar down. He dived under his car for safety. When he peeked out, a corner of the roof of his home was missing and debris littered the area.

A dozen other residents of south St. Louis also reported seeing the twister.

There were no reports of tornadic activity in other parts of the city but 2½ inches of rain fell in less than two hours.

A fireman said he saw one south St. Louis home with timbers sticking through the sides, apparently driven there by the force of the wind.

Much of the rain fell during the afternoon traffic rush and cars were jammed for blocks when sewers flooded.

There were unconfirmed reports of four other twisters in South St. Louis county.

Three small tornadoes dipped into southwestern Missouri. The twister damaged farm buildings six miles west of Joplin, 3½ miles south of Cabool, and five miles southeast of El Dorado Springs. There were no injuries.

12-Year-Old Girl Leads Posse on Chase

Salt Lake City — Twelve-year-old Sharon Miller, who loves horses, cowboys and western films, played the starring role yesterday in her own epic.

She kept hop, skip and jump ahead of a 75-man posse, easily out-maneuvering her heavier footed pursuers.

The little girl left home early in the morning with a sleeping bag and high-powered rifle. Before she was corralled eight hours later, she fired two shots—once into the ground and again into the air.

Officials said the youngster apparently left home because she became despondent when her brother was sent on a Latter-Day Saints church mission.

GOP Explains Big Democratic Voting

State Committee Sticks With 'They Got Out the Vote' Theme

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The Republicans have an explanation for the relatively good showing of the Democrats in the primary elections last week, and the GOP state committee stuck to it at a meeting here Monday.

As GOP State Chairman Claude J. Jasper, Madison, put it after the all-day closed meeting, the Democrats failed to vote due brought out their vote and the Republicans failed to do so.

In fact, insisted Jasper, the Democrats brought out most of their vote through a big push, and managed to show only a little better than in the comparable year of 1954. The fact that they got more votes for some of their candidates than did the Republicans, he explained carefully, was because thousands of Democrats failed to vote due to the lack of important Republican nomination contests.

Wednesday, Sept. 17, 1958 Appleton Post-Crescent A5

As Jasper related it for the committee, the Republican organization leaders agreed in their hours of discussion that:

1. Wisconsin will remain safely Republican in the November elections as Republican absentee of recent elections return to the polls.
2. The party has enough local campaign talent to avoid the importation of oratorical and campaigning personalities from other parts of the country, in contrast to Democratic plans to bring in numbers of prominent Democratic office-holders from outside to assist local Democratic candidates.

3. There is a groundswell of opposition among Democrats to Sen. William Proxmire, which bodes well for the prospects of Roland Steinle, Republican senate nominee.

4. The major Republican candidates, including Gov. Thomson, will make at least one campaign swing through each of the 10 congressional districts.

5. The GOP will recover control of the ninth district by defeating Democratic Rep. Lester Johnson there.

6. The party will take special pains to campaign the strategic Fox river valley counties, which have a greater importance as the Democrats have gained strength in the state.

'No Significance'

Jasper offered his own view that there is no particular significance to the primary election victory of John W. Reynolds of Green Bay. He won the Democratic nomination for attorney general in a campaign in which he talked mostly about opposing a state sales tax.

"That was a phoney issue and the people know it. Eventually he'll be required to show that he is a lawyer, in running for that job," Jasper scoffed.

The GOP leader said Brown county voting last week was an illustration of the fact that Republican voters turn out when there are interesting contests on the primary ballot, but tend to ignore primaries otherwise.

He said local issues, plus the popularity of Rep. John W. Byrnes, contributed to the heavy Republican voting. He said the Brown county vote also was encouraging for Gov. Thomson, who topped the ballot. He made no reference to the removal of Republican Brown County Sheriff Artley Skendore, who won overwhelm-

Virgin Islands To Have Young Governor

Charlotte Amalie, V.I. — A young lawyer is taking on a tough job as the new governor of the Virgin islands and he's sure he can handle it.

Not everyone in this easy going, tropical capital is as confident as John David Merwin, who will be installed Sept. 24.

At 38, John David, as his friends call him, is the youngest governor ever appointed by the president in this U.S. territory. He has been active in local politics four years.

Since the start of the year he has been serving as government secretary, No. 2 man in the island administration.

"I accept my appointment as governor as a challenge," Merwin told a newsmen with a trace of the lilting, calypso English spoken here.

Defense Base

The United States bought the islands from Denmark in 1917 as a Panama canal defense base. They have never had a sound economic base since the slave trade died out a century ago. In the 1930s Herbert Hoover called the islands an effective poorhouse.

The island budget now runs about $6 million for the 30,000 inhabitants. But the federal government has to subsidize it by matching every dollar of the approximately three million collected in taxes here.

Merwin lists his two major goals as improving the islands' economy and "bringing on a greater measure of autonomy by the people, including the right to elect their own governor."

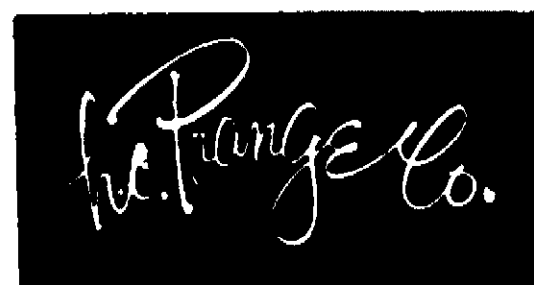

He believes that unless the islands can pay their own way, pressure for an elected governor is foolish.

Jasper also announced that Allan Edgerton, widely known Fond du Lac attorney and conservation organization leader, has been chosen vice-chairman of the GOP in the sixth congressional district to succeed Robert Haynes of Sheboygan.

Who Shall Run the School System?

The Appleton Teachers' association, which represents a majority of the city's public school teachers in matters of pay and working conditions and thus is, in effect, a union, came up with some interesting proposals at a recent meeting of the board of education.

The association's welfare committee, in addition to presenting requests for increases in teachers' salaries and some changes in the methods of adjusting these salaries to reflect experience, asked that any future increases be granted only to those teachers who are members of the association. Presumably those teachers who have chosen not to join the association would not get any increases, or would be otherwise penalized in their pay schedules for such non-membership.

We are amazed at the infinite variety of stratagems thought up by people who are active in various organizations, and zealous about those organizations' activities and aims, to force other people to join up. There is practically no organization with which we have had experience — labor union, businessmen's association, professional group, even "do-good" agencies such as a fund-raising unit or a welfare society — in which sooner or later someone doesn't come up with a proposal to use some form of coercion which has as its purpose, direct or not, the expansion of the organization's prestige, influence, budget and permanence. There is something deep within us all, we suppose, that makes us patient only so long with our fellows who for whatever reason are reluctant to join us in our praiseworthy endeavors, and then, patience and our sales ingenuity exhausted, we want to up and clobber them into getting on the Heaven train — or else.

What the association is really asking is that people of Appleton, who own the school system, tell these recalcitrant teachers to join the association on the penalty of getting less pay, regardless of the quality of their work in teaching the young minds of our community. The hallmark of an acceptable teacher in the Appleton system, apparently, is to be a proper spirit of fellowship — represented by a check for annual dues — rather than such traditional guideposts as knowledge of subject matter, ability to inspire young imaginations, and the like.

We have a suggestion for the school board as it considers this request. A very sensible reply would be, "Sure, we'll go along with you. But since the people of Appleton will be providing you with your membership, it is only fair that the people — through their elected representatives on the school board — also run the ATA. We'll call the meetings, set the agenda, elect the officers — and decide how much you will ask for next year."

The other ATA proposal that intrigued us was that, should the school board institute a merit system for granting raises to teachers, it should come because the teachers want it and not just because the taxpayers want it. In fact, according to the chairman of the association's welfare committee, such a plan should come from the teachers in the first place, and at least 75 per cent of them should approve it before it is adopted.

We hope we are not oversimplifying things when we say that this makes us wonder just who is running the school system. In our view a school system exists because the people of a community decide they want it to exist, dig down in their pocket to put up the rather astounding sums required, and elect representatives to operate it who in turn hire administrators and teachers to make it function. We hope we are not being hopelessly old-fashioned in suggesting that perhaps the people, who own the system, should have something to say about whether salaries should be based on merit or on some other standard.

The right of the teachers to ask for more pay or changes in working conditions, and to form an organization to help them in this endeavor is, of course, undisputed. Furthermore it would be only sensible administrative practice for the board to consult with those who are to be most directly affected by such a change, perhaps through an advisory committee of some sort. We recognize that putting teachers' pay on a merit system is controversial and that there are good arguments on both sides of the question. But when we hear proposals that institution of such a system should depend on approval of the teachers themselves we cannot help wondering again what part the taxpayer — who only puts up the money — has to play any more in these matters.

The Democratic Ticket

An obvious reason for a greater interest in the Democratic side of the primary election balloting recently was that the Democratic voters of the state were obliged to put together a state ticket, while the Republican ticket for the most part was already composed. Most of the Republicans were incumbents.

The standard-bearers elected by the Democrats taken together form an interesting list. We haven't seen a more apt illustration lately of the extreme fluidity of state and local political leadership. Swift rise and equally swift extinction, of course, is natural and perhaps inevitable in a minority party. Yet it is provocative, at least, that with one possible exception these men chosen to lead the Wisconsin Democratic party this fall would not have been recognized had they walked into a Democratic convention hall a decade ago.

Sen. Nelson of Madison, the nominee for governor, is an example. A decade ago his only previous experience as a candidate had been as an unsuccessful aspirant for the Assembly in Polk county — on the Republican ticket. He was then making his first overtures for a new career in Madison, in Dane county. The "if" is as fascinating in local and contemporary as in classical and historical terms, and we find ourselves wondering what Sen. Nelson's career might have been had he defeated Mr. Peabody in

Not Too Late

Although the engineering work is well along and a beginning has been made on the excavation at the top of the hill, the Oneida street drawbridge project could still be stopped.

We point this out because we are still far from satisfied that the city is acting wisely in replacing the Oneida street bridge with a new — and expensive — drawbridge. The more we think of the three-quarters of a million dollars that will go into replacing this obsolete structure, the more we are convinced that a better plan could be developed.

Our reason is simple: the Post-Crescent is against the construction of any more low-level bridges, anywhere in Appleton. We said this at the time of the Lawe street project, and when some people were advocating that the John street bridge be replaced by a new one at the same location and height.

To us, low-level bridges in Appleton belong to the horse-and-buggy, or at least the Model T, era. First, it means that river traffic must compete for right-of-way with street traffic — at a time when both the use of pleasure boats and motor cars are increasing sharply, and undoubtedly will continue to increase in this rapidly-growing community. Second, it means that automobiles and trucks must negotiate fairly steep hills when crossing the river, which in this northern clime means wintertime danger to drivers and snow-removal and sanding expense to the city.

Practically all of Appleton is located on a plateau high above the river; the only important section of the city that is not is the industrial "flats," which certainly shouldn't be used for through traffic. Would it not make sense, from now on, to connect the two parts of that plateau with direct, high-level bridges, instead of in effect constructing permanent detours on which vehicles must compete with railroad trains and boats for the right to move?

We realize that high-level bridges cost more, and a switch in plans on Oneida street undoubtedly would mean a delay of at least three years before the new facility could be built. But let us remember that whichever we build — a $750,000 low-level drawbridge or a $2-million-plus high-level bridge — is going to have to last us many decades, and the difference in money will look pretty small over a span of 40 or 50 years.

At least we'd like to feel that the city had thought the problem through thoroughly instead of simply rushing to replace a bridge that is obsolete. There is such a thing as making obsolescence permanent. We would rather wait awhile, and do the thing right.

What Others are Saying

Pork Barrel, Whip, Lobbying Suggest Politics Unchanged

From The Chicago Tribune

When congress adjourns, politicians like to hurry home for a little fence mending and perhaps some stumping. They have been doing this for more than a century, and just about everybody knows that fence mending means patching up the local political organization and that stumping means making speeches.

The odd thing about political expressions is that there seem to be no new ones. They go back at least to the 19th century, when life centered around the horse, the farm, and the country store. The country stores, for example, kept crackers and salt pork in barrels, and customers would dig into them when they felt like it. For some reason the cracker barrel became associated with the local philosopher, while the pork barrel came to represent public funds into which politicians would dip for local projects.

The horse is honored by such terms as a "party wheelhorse" (because the horse nearest the wheel guided the others in a team,) "bolting" from a party (as a horse bolts away from its rider's control), and "dark horse." The latter applies to a candidate with hidden possibilities because, according to one theory, well known race horses used to be dyed in order to conceal their identity and thus win greater odds for the insiders who bet on them. Since it is difficult to bleach a horse, most dyed horses were dark.

The term "whip" inherited from England, where, according to a dictionary of 1792, the "whipper-in" was "a fellow that sends for members to carry a question when the minister is hard run." His function is substantially unchanged.

Other expressions going back to the early 1800s include "filibuster," which comes from a Spanish word for plundering, which in turn came from Dutch words meaning "free boodle." The original meaning of the Spanish word is preserved in our "freebooter," while the word itself was applied to politicians who obstructed general legislation until their own demands were met. "Boodle" itself was adopted directly from the Dutch, and by the time of the Civil war meant graft. It was popular during the New York and Chicago investigations of 1887.

The first recorded reference to a political "machine" was by Aaron Burr. "Lobbying" goes back to the 1820s, when the New York legislature ruled private agents off the floor of the chamber. Thereafter these agents conducted their business in the lobby, and were called lobby agents.

Some terms have faded out, perhaps prematurely, such as "pipe-laying." In the 1840s this referred to the process by which ward politicians herded transient voters from one polling place to another so as to get as many votes out of each as possible.

In a way, it is encouraging to discover that politics is able to get along so well on the same old phrases, while in many other fields new vocabularies have sprung up. It suggests that politics in the atomic age is the same as politics in the horse age, and that for every variety of political skulduggery today, there was a word 100 years ago to describe it.

Why Abolish Fine High School?

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Sept. 20, 1879.

It may interest our economic friends, who desire to see the high school abolished in our city because it is so fearfully expensive, to know that the official reports from all the high schools in the state show that ours is the most cheaply conducted of the lot.

Besides which it is gratifying to know that the State Superintendent's office ranks our school among the best in the state. It is so graded because of its efficiency.

During the last two years, the State has paid $847.15 toward defraying its expenses and pupils from outside the District have paid another $500 more.

Will those who oppose the liberal education of poor men's children visit the school and judge whether or not it is wise to withhold encouragement from it?

Better State Jobs Fail To Attract Best Men

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The recent announcement that a new director of industrial development in the state government will serve for a year under a "loan" arrangement with his private employer got a group of long-time residents of Madison who are interested in state government wondering.

Has there been a deterioration in the quality of the state government top-side? The consensus, reluctant as it was, is that the state service is not drawing the abilities, and imagination and vigor and prestige in its principal administrators and policy makers that it used to have.

These are not easily measurable matters. Prejudice may very well be involved, as well as a degree of nostalgia. Yet it is a fact that governors have trouble recruiting for the top jobs — at least to the extent that here are rarely many candidates of the stature that a governor wants to have, for the sake of his reputation and peace of mind, if for no other.

THE LOAN

The loan of an administrator in the case of the industrial development service tells its own story. This is a key agency, not only because it is new, but because of the hope with which it was established by the legislature.

It may be assumed that the governor would not have entered into this admittedly temporary arrangement if he could have laid his hands upon a qualified man who wanted a permanent appointment. It is no discredit to the man involved, for John Benson comes with some impressive testimonials to his state capital office, but it is difficult for even the most apt recruit to know much about his public service job in less than a year.

The loan arrangement may also raise in the minds of the fastidious the question of propriety. Is this man the state's, or his private employer's?

This corner has watched a succession of members of the great regulatory and service commissions in the state capital and even making the broadest allowances for the possibility that the attainments of past leaders have been exaggerated in the remembering, there are now some pretty ordinary men sitting in some of these seats. More revelatory is the fact that when vacancies occur, governors have to hunt up the candidates, when once they were standing in line and the problem was one of selection. More than once lately, second raters were accepted because the first raters scorned the places.

WHY?

What does it mean? Many things, probably. It is not altogether a question of monetary return, although that is always glibly offered as an excuse. In point of fact, the state's administrative salary schedule is now a reasonable one — and surely a realistic one — given the state of mind of a typical legislature that controls the matter.

Remuneration is more than the figure on the salary check, it may be supposed. The other rewards of public life are becoming more doubtful.

When this correspondent was a cub on the statehouse scene, the ranking state department heads were important and widely known and respected public leaders. Today they are virtually anonymous, except as they may be subjected to an occasional publicity whipping during the heat of a biennial election campaign between the parties.

The consciousness of state sovereignty, enterprise, and responsibility has been dissipated gradually, but nonetheless effectively. The uncontrolled expansion of the national government has degenerated the concept of state government, as the evolution of the state in the 19th century gradually reduced the counties to mere appendages of state power. What used to be a challenge is now mere administrative routine and what used to be a high honor and a great responsibility now appears to many qualified men as merely a job.

Milwaukee Talk Bending All the Phrases Around

From A Letter to a Milwaukee Newspaper

Lifted from my scrapbook, I hope the following samples will give your West Allis reader (and others) a chuckle or two:

"I get so easy warm, so dance me loose."

A woman, asking for a bus transfer at N. 41st and W. Capitol dr., said: "Punch me long, mister, I'm going by city hall."

A mother told her son, "Go let the dog out once but don't let him bark the neighbors up. They're already to bed sometimes early."

On a snowy day, the mother called to her son, "Stanley, come broom off the snow. The sidewalk is getting thick."

A father explained the duties of the Bradford beach lifeguard to his small son: "He's a swim-saver. After people are drowned, in the water, he saves them."

A yell at Borchert field, where the Brewers played baseball: "Come on, let's go, hit it once a couple of times."

Sad Man Picked Wrong Woman

Raleigh, N. C. — The fellow looked at the pretty policewoman and shook his head sadly.

"She arrested me once already," he sighed. "I told her that it would be nice if we could go to her house and talk it over. And I was so taken by her that she was on the jail elevator before I knew what she was really doing to me."

"She booked me for drunk."

Lift Station Out if Owners Fail to Plat

Works Board Sets
Tuesday Deadline For Street Outline

The proposed northwest side sewage lift station may be abandoned if five nearby property owners fail to file a joint plat of their lands by next Tuesday afternoon.

This was the decision Tuesday of the board of public works after a promised joint plat was not presented.

Drafting of the plat was promised at a joint meeting of the property owners and Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski two weeks ago, Kenneth Hooyman, one of the owners said.

Cyril and Leo Griesbach have made repeated demands for extension of services to their lands, a large factor in the board's decision to issue an ultimatum. Board members felt the plat, after years of complaints, could have been filed at the promised time.

$60,000

The lift station, programmed at $60,000 to serve 305 acres temporarily until the area can be served by gravity flow, would be placed on land Hooyman would sell to the city for a northwest neighborhood park near the intersection of W. Lindbergh and N. Nicholas streets extended.

It would be constructed so it could be converted to a park comfort station when the lift is abandoned.

Hooyman has offered to sell about nine acres at $2,000 an acre if the lift station is completed by July 1. Otherwise he wants $2,500 an acre.

Wants Plat

The park would be immediately northwest of the elementary school site the city purchased from Van Den Heuvel several years ago.

Duszynski has insisted on a plat of land owned by Hooyman, the Griesbachs, Walter Klitzke, Chris Van Den Heuvel and Harold J. Slezak so improvements can be planned without making concessions that look like engineering mistakes.

Slezak's land lies north of Hooyman's and a plat of Hooyman's property is essential, Duszynski has said, so the plant be connected in a straight line to the gravity main already at N. Richmond street on W. Lindbergh.

Talk of the lift station, in progress since early this year, was held up for a time by reports an immense area west of the city might seek annexation. In the interim, the size of the station was cut down from an estimated $128,000 installation.

Annexation Needed

The station, the landowners have agreed, is big enough to satisfy their subdivision development plans. Some of the owners hold land inside the city. Others would have to annex to obtain city services.

More delay in getting the plan started probably will find

Air Force Jets Ready In Formosa

Taipei, Formosa — The commander of the U. S. Air Force's newly arrived F104 Starfighter squadron said Tuesday the deadly record-breaking jet "is able to come up against."

Lt. Col. John W. Bennett of Miami, Fla., said, "We were brought here to assume a role as part of the air defense team for the island of Taiwan (Formosa)."

The 83rd Fighter-Interceptor squadron, numbering 20 to 25 Starfighters, was flown from Hamilton Air Force base, Calif., aboard giant C-124 double-deck cargo planes. The F104 holds the world's speed record for operational money set aside in an earlier bond issue gone, Duszynski has said.

fighter craft of 1,404 miles an hour and the world altitude record of 91,249 feet. Because of its small wing of 7 feet on each side it is often called "the missile with a man in it."

In an interview recorded by the Air Force and released to the newsmen, Bennett, an Air Force career officer with 16 years' service, said the Starfighter's special new gun can fire at a phenomenal rate.

The Starfighter's principal armament, he added, is the Side-winder missile, a heat-seeking weapon which heads for the tail of a blazing jet.

His unit is operating from a base in northern Formosa. Within 24 hours after its arrival last Friday, the first Starfighter was assembled and flying. Others have since been flown.

Decision on City Tree Work Awaits Budget

Park Board Told To Submit Costs In November Talks

The 1959 city budgetmakers will have to decide whether to initiate an estimated $20,000 annual improvement program for city-owned trees.

Board of public works members Tuesday advised the park board to submit the park board's recommendation for a city forestry department as a separate budget request in November.

Park Supt. Harold Jerke made the cost estimate. He listed a 7-man crew, a forester, a truck driver, a ground man and four tree toppers.

Present equipment would have to be augmented by purchase of a truck, he said, and a sprayer and materials if a Dutch elm disease prevention program is added to the plan.

The park board noted there are more elm trees in the city than any other kind.

Need for an overall tree improvement program was cited after a tree survey of the city in late July.

Recommendations

The surveyor, from the state agricultural department's Dutch elm disease laboratory, recommended:

1. A 3 or 4-year pruning program be instituted.
2. Money for spraying against Dutch elm disease be budgeted as soon as possible.

3. No dead elm wood be permitted in the city.

4. The practice of the park department giving away wood be stopped immediately and the wood burned.

14,500 Elms

He estimated the elm tree population in Appleton at 14,500 trees, with 7,500 on street, right-of-way, 5,000 on private property, 1,000 in parks, 500 at Lawrence college, which has an excellent maintenance program and 500 in cemeteries.

He also said the town showed six trees as suspect Dutch elm cases and 48 other trees either dead or dying.

Trees on most private property and many on city street right-of-way need pruning, he reported.

His inspection, he said, showed there are native elm bark beetles in all but two of the existing wood piles.

Byrnes Hits Dairy Industry Control Plans

Plans to solve the dairy problem through government control of milk production and marketing were denounced in Stevens Point Tuesday by Rep. John W. Byrnes.

Such plans rely on an enforced reduction in the amount of milk farmers could sell and the Wisconsin dairy industry would suffer, Byrnes told the annual convention of the Wisconsin Creameries association.

"The plans cannot work without ruthlessly cutting back the sales of farmers in surplus milk producing regions and Wisconsin would be the principal victim," Byrnes declared.

"I will oppose any plan which sacrifices the rights of a minority for the benefit of a powerful majority. I will particularly oppose it when the minority happens to form the economic backbone of Wisconsin."

Byrnes is holding office hours today at the courthouse in Appleton.

Bees All Right, It's Those Stinging Wasps

Helena, Mont. — Bee-man Charles Williams arrived home after one more successful day on the job which he's pursued for years — and was stung by a wasp. Twice. The wasp flew up his trouser leg. Williams spat, "You can't depend on bees. But you can't trust wasps!"

College Starts 12th Decade

President Knight Urges Freshmen to Use Minds' Power

Lawrence college started on its twelfth decade Tuesday morning, as President Douglas M. Knight, standing before a sea of green beanies marked with the class year '62, delivered the matriculation address officially marking the beginning of the 12th year.

"You are not here to absorb the polite and genteel adornments of life, pleasant as those may be; you are here to learn how to act like educated people — for your own individual and inner good and for the equal good of your society and your world," Lawrence's eleventh president said.

"The things we expect of you here — the demanding and illuminating study, the finding of yourself, the independence and yet the discipline that will exist in your personal lives — all these things are answers to the distortions and evils that constantly beset a society like ours in a time of revolution. The kind of education you get here is defined by the fact that it mediates between your own inner life and the life of your world and time."

Definition

Dr. Knight defined Lawrence college as "a place which exists to explore, develop and defend the best use of the human mind."

The idea that makes a college go, he pointed out is "a recognition that student attempts to understand the world are worthy of infinite respect (even if they turn out to be wrong) and must be protected against any short-sighted interference."

But liberty is not license, he warned. "You can betray the heart of the college... by pretending that your ideas are the only ones that exist, or that it doesn't matter very much whether you have ideas and convictions or not."

Mind's Full Power

"You will never be free until you learn to use the powers that are in you, and for us that means above all the full power of your mind — not just to know what someone else has said or the facts, but to know how to think, to write, to discuss, to experiment, to create."

President Knight observed that the world outside the college stands in serious need of "the talents we hope you will develop here." We are now facing a whole series of revolutions at every level of our national and international life. "These revolutions involve everything from the sources of power and the exploration of space to the relation of races and the coexistence of societies in a world suddenly grown intimate."

Oneida Bridge Plan Goes to Council

Works Board Seeks Approval For $600,000 Sale of Bonds

The city council tonight will be asked to approve plans and start bonding procedure for the estimated $740,000 S. Oneida street drawbridge.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski told the board of public works Tuesday approval would probably mean a bid opening date of Oct. 28 and a bond sale in early December.

Construction could begin, Duszynski said, before completion of the bond sale as long as the initial bonding steps were unopposed.

A start this fall, he said, would mean interruption of navigation through the government canal for only one season and completion by next year. Any later start would carry construction to two seasons.

How to Bond

Board members endorsed the early start, but were concerned about selling too many bonds. Such procedures in the past have sometimes resulted in unspent money upon which interest is paid.

It was decided to sell $600,000 in bonds initially, if the move is approved by the city's bonding consultants in Chicago, and obtain whatever money is found to be needed after bids are taken from subsequent bond calls.

Fenner - Brey Engineering corporation, Madison, Wis., bridge planners, will furnish a resident engineer during construction.

City Wage Scale

While the city contract wage scale is higher than the state's scale and bridge builders work mostly under state scale, the city scale must be paid workmen. All unskilled laborers must be Appleton residents.

Traffic will be closed one week to rearrange the present swing bridge to permit construction of the new span.

Earlier Company A humble blacksmith shop operated by Crosby Ketchum in 1857 probably is the forerunner of the iron working and machine industry in Appleton. In reality, this firm represents the beginning of the Appleton Machine company.

John G. Morgan, who came from New York state purchased in 1867 an interest in the Ketchum foundry and machine shop. The firm was known as Ketchum and Morgan. Morgan later was to assume an important part in the Appleton Machine company.

Twelve years later Ketchum sold his interests to H. F. Bassett, who came here from Massachusetts. It was then the Morgan-Bassett company was organized.

About this same time, the family of Gottfried Saecker came to America. The elder Saecker and his three sons, F. E. Saecker, H. G. Saecker and W. F. Saecker, organized the Appleton Machine company in 1883. Four years later they purchased Bassett's interests in Morgan-Bassett and merged the two companies under the name of Appleton Machine company.

In May, 1954, it was announced the company was purchased by the Loftus Engineering corporation with principal offices in Pittsburgh. Victor Bloomer continues as president of the company.

Seek Report on Fox Pollution

Green Bay Charges Upstream Cities Lag in Compliance

Green Bay — A demand that the state board of health report on what progress is being made to combat pollution from other cities along the Fox river was made by the Green Bay water pollution committee Monday night.

Lengthy and heated discussion centered on the lack of progress being made by such cities as Appleton, Neenah and Menasha in the construction of adequate sewage facilities.

Ald. Don Tilleman, committee chairman, read a state board of health report which ordered communities along the Fox river to prepare construction plans by Dec. 31, 1958, and completion of work by Dec. 31, 1961. The order also called for "frequent reports on progress made."

Committee members wondered if any reports had been made by the cities and complained that Green Bay is acting to control pollution, but other communities aren't making any move in that direction.

Point to Appleton

It was reported that Appleton is one of the biggest contributors of raw sewage to the Fox river and no attempt has been made to correct the situation.

George Martin, engineer-manager of the Metropolitan Sewerage district, said Green Bay and Kimberly are the only cities in the Fox Valley meeting the state order for 70 per cent reduction in sewage before releasing it to the Fox.

Appleton was ordered to construct a secondary treatment plant which has been discussed by the board of public works although no orders to draft building plans have been issued. Separation of the sanitary and storm sewer systems is continuing with upwards of $250,000 being spent annually in storm sewer construction. Sewage is dumped into the Fox river only in peak rainy periods.

Arnold Sorenson, superintendent of the Neenah-Menasha sewage plant, said that by-passing of sewage there has been corrected within the last year, as ordered. A secondary treatment plant also was ordered but still is in the discussion stages.

Drunkenness Fine

Leon Chaney, 60, 111 E. Franklin street, was fined $10 for drunkenness. He was arrested by Appleton police Sunday night at Franklin and N. Oneida streets.

Foolish Male Blackmailed for Affair, Afraid to Face Hubby

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm in one mess of a mess and need help. Just skip the sarcasm and tell me what to do.

I had a girl friend on the side for two years. I know I was a fool but it's too late to undo what's been done. This dame had a hollow leg in her toes. She wasn't fit to breathe the same air as my wife.

In May I realized I was crazy for fooling around and I tried to shake her. I told my wife everything and she was wonderful. Never once has she thrown this back in my teeth. The girl, however, refuses to let me alone. She threatens to tell her husband everything if I stop seeing her. He's a 6' 4" Swede and I don't need this kind of trouble. I'm fed up with the whole mess but I'm afraid to let go because this guy would surely break my head open. What should I do?—BRONCO You're in it up to your Adam's apple, Brother, and my advice is to tell the girl she's welcome to clue the big Swede in on the whole ugly mess. When she spills the beans, she puts her own neck on the block as well as yours.

So long as you permit her to blackmail you, you're going to have her on your head. Face the music and get it over with. Remember, "Cowards die many times before their death the valiant never taste of death but once."

DEAR ANN: Our son is going to be engaged to a very nice girl. He's planning to get the ring next month. We've never met the girl's parents. It's embarrassing because people ask us questions about her folks and we don't know what to say.

Last week I sent a message with the girl that I'd like to have her parents for Sunday dinner. Two days later she told me her parents had an engagement for Sunday dinner but they'd be happy to drop in and visit some time and I shouldn't bother to cook a meal for them. I have a hunch they want to look us over before they accept a dinner invitation so they can decide if we're good enough to eat with. My husband says I'm overly sensitive. What should I do next?—M.C.A....

Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone in 1876. I suggest you avail yourself of this marvelous device and stop sending second-hand, oral invitations to people you've never met.

They appear to be considerate and friendly and your attitude toward them is extremely pugnacious. Issue a proper invitation, by phone, stating a definite time and place.

Don't foul your son's nest before he gets into it by having a fight with his future in-laws.

DEAR ANN: About that letter signed "Lucy", that appeared last week—my wife insists it was written by an old girl friend of mine. I swear I haven't seen this woman in years. Will you please print her correct name and get me off the hook? I'm in a real jam at home. Thank you in advance. —WALLACE

Dear Wallace: You'll have to get off the hook as best you can, Bub. I never reveal the identity of those who write to me. Sorry.

Our Children

Excessive Teasing 'Un-Funny' to Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

A queer sort of humor seems to prompt some grown-up people to believe that teasing a child until he cries is funny. There is nothing funny about it. Hurting a child surely is no laughable matter. I have never known a child to cry because he was having a good time.

Mattie has a cherished kitten. Uncle picks up the kitty and says he is going to take her away. "No, no," screams Mattie. "Give me her. You give me her. She's mine. Ma-ma, mama, he's taking my kitty." "Now, now, Mattie, Uncle is only playing. He doesn't mean it." "Yes, he does. Make him give me my kitty," and the wails of woe rise to high heaven. Uncle laughs and says, "Here's your kitty. What you crying for?" What for indeed?

A gangling youth shows a preference for a certain girl. He waits for her at the school entrance, takes her books, treats her at the candy shop. That is a sign of his healthy growth and nothing to be laughed at. The boy is shy about this relationship and does not want it talked about. But some grownup member of the family sees something funny about it and proceeds to tease him when the whole clan is present. The boy's ears grow red and he chokes and keeps still. He has been made to feel miserable to the amusement of the unfeeling adult.

Un-Funny Situation

The boy's mother who has looked on silently speaks when she sees the child slip out of the room. "You should not tease him like that. After all —" "Oh, he'll get plenty of ribbing as he grows up and he might as well get used to it. Can't he join in a laugh room hostess. Representatives to the United Church Women's organization are Mrs. T. Ben Wadsworth, Mrs. Fred Clausen and Mrs. Douglas Murken. He is shy and sensitive, he is developing new functions and they bring with them sensations that make him uneasy. He is in no condition to think his reactions to this growth are funny. Girls are very sensitive about this, even more so than the boys, if that is possible.

Boys and girls alike have a right to respect from those about them. They have a right to privacy regarding their feelings. They are hurt by teasing, injured by ridicule. They know they are clumsy just now. They know they look all ends and tangles and they know they can't help it. This teasing is not only unpleasant but it makes the young people mistrust their elders. It drives them to secrecy. They have nobody to confide in just at the time they need someone older, wiser than they and kinder than most adults. Maybe Mother stands by—somebody should. And all such teasing should be barred.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

Experts fear and despise overbidding partners and underbidding partners, but most of all they abominate wooden partner — players so inflexible in their devotion to this or that bidding system that they show absolutely no imagination. West in the following deal easily qualified for that non-distinction.

West, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

North-South had a part-score of 40 when this hand was dealt—a fact that made West's bidding much worse, although it would have been bad enough at a love score.

West North East South

2 C Pass Pass 2 N T
Pass Pass Pass
As it happened, the two-trump contract could have been beaten, but West followed up his inept bidding with a suicidal club lead, and that settled that.

In any event, it was not the lead or the defense against two no trump that should concern us—it was West's failure to bid a spade on Round 2 that was the crime. Whereas the two-club call silenced East as though he'd been gagged, a spade bid by West would have closed the door on the opponents. East, of course, would have raised to two spades, and South could not have "moved."

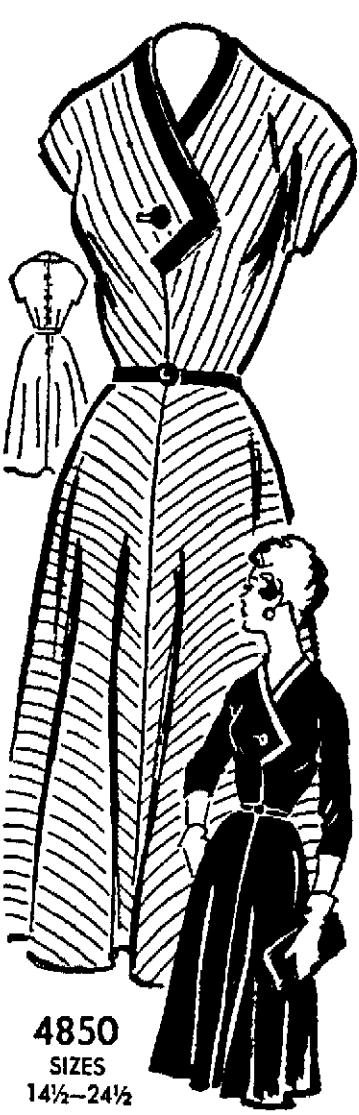

The rationalization of West's bidding was this: He belonged to a school that prescribes "sound" opening bids—meaning bids based on about 14 or 15 high-card points!—and so he was probably feeling guilty about his actual 11 points. Thus, he didn't want to do anything to encourage his partner, and he probably felt that a change of suits, and particularly the naming of a major suit, "might give East ideas."

Actually, of course, there was not a grain of logic in any such reasoning. Showing a new suit at the one-level has absolutely no implication of extra strength, and this type of action is vital to open up new fields for investigation—particularly when the player is void in his partner's suit.

Zingsheim Charges Uncover GOP Split

Bubolz, Van Susteren Hurling Accusations as Race Warms Up

BY JIM NEWCOMB
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

More charges by the Democratic assembly candidate today nudged into the open wrangling between two top Appleton Republicans.

These were the chronological events:

1. Dick Zingsheim, the Democrat, charged again that the Kenneth E. Priebe independent candidacy is a put-up job.

2. Urban Van Susteren, GOP county chief, charged the Priebe candidacy represents an attempt by Gordon A. Bubolz to prepare himself for the 1962 governor's race.

3. Bubolz, announced Priebe backer, discounted Van Susteren's claim, identifying his interest as "in the public interest to assure the best and most dignified representation in Madison."

Zingsheim touched off the debate with this statement to the Post-Crescent:

"At 10 o'clock Friday night, I was informed by Harold the Froehlich that upon meeting with certain Republican party leaders it was decided to run an independent. This independent's campaign would be backed by the certain Republicans."

"Froehlich went on to say the independent does not stand an outside chance of being elected. However, he said, it is far better to split the anti-Catlin vote, thereby assuring defeat of the Democrat and victory of Catlin in the general election."

Concerning Zingsheim's charge, Froehlich said today, "Definitely not—I talked with Zingsheim, but said no such thing. I simply told him that I was sure there would be an independent candidate."

Questioned about a statement by Chris Mullen, another GOP candidate, that he would support Priebe, Froehlich said, "I won't comment until I am in Appleton this weekend."

When pressed, Froehlich said, "I haven't done anything to support anyone yet. I've been waiting to see what would happen."

Froehlich had been unavailable for comment for two days. He is a law student at the University of Wisconsin and formerly headed the Young Republican organization here.

Van Susteren said he doubts a responsible leader like Froehlich would have made the statement attributed to him by Zingsheim.

"Certainly," he said, "no responsible Republican leader ever had a notion of this kind. Most Republicans dislike the confusion. All Republicans I know will vote the straight Republican ticket — except for Gordon Bubolz, who I suspect is getting back into politics to run for governor in 1962."

Bubolz, former state senator, said he wouldn't "edify and dignify with my comments the statements that Zingsheim seems to be making the keynote of his campaign. I think some of his statements are so ridiculous they ought to be completely ignored."

Of Van Susteren's suspicions, Bubolz said: "You can discount that completely. My whole intention is to help give Republicans a chance to select a majority candidate in the First assembly district."

Catlin Unavailable

"An increasing number of Republicans in the area agree with me: That an independent candidate is — amply justified and looked forward to by Republican voters inasmuch as the nominated candidate received only 31 per cent of the Republican vote, compared to 69 per cent received by his opponents."

Catlin is in Milwaukee and has been unavailable for comment this week.

Golf Course Needs Fence, Pro Believes

Reid Municipal Golf course should be enclosed entirely by fence, Pro Don Bartelt believes.

The fence is needed, he told the city council in a letter filed today at city hall, because:

1. Small children often wander onto the course and into danger of being injured by flying golf balls.

2. Several acts of vandalism involving the $5,000 to $6,000 greens occurred this summer.

3. Madison Junior High school students are endangering themselves by taking shortcuts across the course when traveling to and from school. The traffic has been so high some days play had to be suspended while it was going on.

Refuse Problem

4. The Madison Junior High traffic also creates a refuse problem, especially after lunch.

5. Many golfers report their golf balls stolen when hit out of sight and several youngsters have been reprimanded by policemen for the thefts.

6. Adult golfers sometimes avoid paying fees by sneaking onto the course.

The suggestion will be read at tonight's council meeting and probably be referred to

Two Lawrence Professors Return to Staff

Two Lawrence faculty members are back on campus after a year's absence — Dr. Craig R. Thompson of the English department and Dr. Chandler W. Rowe in anthropology.

Dr. Thompson was a research fellow of the Folger Shakespeare library at Washington, D. C., and then served for a year as special consultant on that library staff. Last year he published a volume of translations, "Ten Colloquies of Erasmus," and this year has written several monographs for the Folger library's series of publications on Tudor and Stuart civilization. Prof. Thompson also lectured at Dickinson college and George Washington university.

Dr. Rowe, who was in Hawaii as a research associate at the University of Hawaii on a National Science fellowship, did considerable field work for the Bernice P. Bishop museum in Honolulu. He is newly-elected president of the Central States Anthropological society and is the author of "A Crematorium at Aztalan", which appeared in the Wisconsin Archaeologist's summer issue.

Cannon Ball Knocks Youth Off Scooter

St. Augustine, Fla. —(AP)—John E. Carre, 15, was knocked off his motor scooter Monday by a cannon ball. He was jolted but wasn't seriously hurt.

The cannon ball was rolled down a bridge—a few hundred yards from the country's oldest masonry fort — by four youths who fled in an automobile.

Several years ago rolling cannon balls down the bridge was a serious problem for police until the city embedded them in cement.

Public Hearing Set On Rezoning of Land For Filling Station

Petition Asks Commercial Status For Site at 705 Appleton Road

Menasha — A public hearing to learn citizens' views on whether property at 705 Appleton road should be rezoned from local business to commercial to permit construction of a gasoline station was called by the council Tuesday night.

The hearing will be at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, Oct. 7, in the council chambers. Owner of the property is Orville Schilhabel, who operates a grocery store on the site.

The aldermen, by a 5-4 vote rejected the planning commission's recommendation that the petition for rezoning be turned down and held in abeyance for six months. Voting "no" were Ald. John Klein, Walter Pawlowski, Gordon Schanke, George Stilp and Edward Stinski.

Not In Violation

Klein pointed out the petition is not in violation of the city ordinance which says that no filling station can be built within 300 feet of another filling station, church or school.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme claimed there were filling stations around the city which are unoccupied and there were enough stations here already.

Ordinances read by City Atty. William R. Giese and approved by the aldermen included the designation of City Clerk Ira Clough as city comptroller, regulating the division and platting of land and forbidding the shooting of a firearm or air gun within the city limits except by a law enforcement officer.

50-Year History of VNA Told Community Council

Neenah — Miss Aileen Rimmel, director of the Neenah-Menasha Visiting Nurse association, outlined the history of the organization at a Community Council luncheon Tuesday noon at the Valley Inn in observance of the golden anniversary of the service.

Miss Rimmel, who has spent 17 years with the VNA, the last 10 as director, explained that 700 such groups in the nation, 17 are in Wisconsin. The Twin City association was the second in the state, founded only after Milwaukee's.

"There are about 350 patients at all times, including the chronically ill," explained Miss Rimmel. She listed the objectives as helping to prevent disease by education; promoting health-individual, family, and community, and providing nursing care in the home on a part-time basis.

"Although the organization was begun to help the needy," added Miss Rimmel, "anyone may use it and those who can afford it pay for the services." About 60 per cent of the association's calls come from doctors who recommend the service to their patients. The staff includes five registered nurses and two licensed practical nurses.

163 Boys are New; Increase Of 88 Youths

Neenah — A record 493 boys have joined the Boys' Brigade this year, coordinator Jack Casper announced this morning. The total includes 830 former members and 163 new boys.

The new boys include 127 sixth graders, 16 seventh, 11 eighth and nine ninth. The total enrollment shows 127 sixth graders, 116 seventh, 82 eighth, 67 ninth, 44 tenth and 47 eleventh and twelfth. Last spring the Brigade ended operations with 406 boys enrolled.

New leaders this year include Gene Langdon, archery; Fred Cherepow, radio club; Don Metz, swimming; Phil Schweitzer and Pat Lyons, woodworking; Douglas Strong, rifle club, and Don Lafflin and Keith Olski, group leaders.

Casper said the Brigade still needs leaders on Monday night for athletic instruction, Wednesday night for rifle club and Thursday night for rifle club, crack drill team and woodworking.

Neenah — The board of review Tuesday reduced the assessment on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Brown, 447 E. Wisconsin avenue, from $26,000 to $21,000, reducing the taxable property in the city to an assessed $36,613,450.

The assessment on the home had been at $26,000 since before 1941. Brown, who purchased the home from Robert W. Lyons after the May 1 assessment deadline, testified that he had paid $53,000.

Another petition from the Browns, to reduce the $18,000 assessment on their former home at 527 E. Wisconsin avenue, was not granted. The Browns still own the home at 527, but have it up for sale. ## Logging Operations Told In Marathon Magazine

Menasha — Logging operations carried on by the Marathon division of American Can company in the Great Lakes area were featured in the current issue of "Marathon," company employee magazine.

The lake states area sources of pulpwood include woodlands in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota. Lands are either owned by Marathon, managed by Marathon for other owners or owned by producers who sell their harvest to Marathon.

Owners include professional producers, dealers, farmers, public utilities, clubs and universities.

On a year-round basis, the lake states woodlands operations supply Marathon pulp mills at Green Bay and Rothschild with 220,000 cords of pulpwood annually.

Marathon is vitally interested in a perpetual supply of pulpwood because it is the firm's basic raw material, the article points out. The firm not only relies on acquisition and management of its own land but also encourages forest management of pulpwood lands by producers from whom it purchases wood.

Marathon also promotes timber growth and proper management by crop farmers with woodlots and by private tree farmers. Its foresters consult with growers about all phases of tree farming.

Lawrence Says:
Cordell Hull
Told Origin of Amendment

Some States Weren't Permitted to Ratify Reconstruction Laws

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Many people are writing in to learn more about the dubious origin of the fourteenth amendment — supposed basis for the desegregation decisions — to which reference recently was made in these dispatches.

The shortest and best statement of the case this writer has seen came from the pen of the late Cordell Hull, secretary of state for nearly 12 years in the cabinet of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Hull was a district judge in Tennessee before he was elected to congress. He was known as the father of the income tax amendment to the federal constitution. In outlining the history of constitutional amendments, Hull said in a speech in the House of Representatives on July 12, 1909:

"Early in 1865 the thirteenth amendment, abolishing slavery, was proposed to the states by congress, but not until after a heated struggle extending over many months. It became a part of the constitution in December of that year.

Duly Ratified

"Mr. speaker, very soon thereafter amendments were proposed in congress looking to the adoption of what was afterwards known as the 'fourteenth amendment,' with the result that, according to the version of some, the fourteenth amendment was duly ratified and became a part of the constitution in July, 1868.

"Some singular circumstances attended the alleged adoption of this amendment. While the sole function of congress with respect to amendments is to propose to the states such amendments as two-thirds of both houses see fit, to be ratified or rejected, either by state legislatures or conventions, yet congress in this instance did not permit all the states to so act upon this proposed amendment. What is known as the 'reconstruction acts' were in operation in 10 states, though President Johnson had held them unconstitutional, while a hurried act of congress intercepted and prevented a consideration by the supreme court of the constitutional validity of these acts. Under these acts, existing state governments were abolished and new governments, created by a convention of delegates made up largely of Negroes, were substituted.

"Under this regime if a state government was about to reject the proposed amendment it was promptly deposed and one of those new governments at once installed, whose action would insure immediate ratification.

"This course seemed to have been at direct variance with the constitutional provision, which directs that only 'legislatures' or 'conventions' in the states are given authority to ratify or reject amendments proposed by congress. Congress can only direct as to whether a state shall act on an amendment by its legislature or a convention, and with this the power of congress terminates.

Seward's Statement

"Lincoln's great secretary of state, William H. Seward, was an exceedingly able lawyer; he had remained in this official position under President Johnson's administration. The act of congress of 1818 made it the official duty of the secretary of state to certify whether an amendment had become a part of the constitution by being duly ratified by the states. Secy. Seward issued two proclamations with reference to the ratification of this amendment, instead of the usual one. When he issued the first proclamation, his legal knowledge and sense of justice did not permit him to recite therein that this amendment had been duly ratified by three-fourths of the states, but, instead, this proclamation declared that the amendment had been ratified by the legislatures of certain states — naming them — and that in six states it had been ratified 'by newly constituted and established bodies avowing themselves to be and acting as the legislatures, respectively.'

"The steps attending the ratification of what is known as the 'war amendments' were so arbitrary, irregular, and unusual as not to be considered reliable precedents to follow in amending the constitution.

"It must be conceded that the moment three-fourths of the states duly ratify an

Hence it follows that congress has no power in the premises after it has once proposed an amendment to the states as the constitution provides, not even of recalling the amendment; therefore the passage of any resolution by congress declaring that a given amendment has or has not been duly ratified by the states, such as was Menasha — The Twin Cities will not resurface the first three blocks of Nicolet boulevard this year, but have tentatively scheduled the work for next year.

The Neenah board of public works will consider its share of the job, from N. Commercial to Third streets, when it sets next year's street program.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme of Menasha informed the council the city had been asked to delay the blacktopping until Neenah could afford to do its half. He said Neenah as-

Thilco Starts 'Family Days'

Hundreds of Visitors Tour Mill in Honor Of 75th Anniversary

Kaukauna — A week of "Family Days" started Monday at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company, highlighting its seventy-fifth anniversary. During the week, employees and their families are touring the pulp and paper mill, viewing an extensive Thilco product display and going through the Wisconsin Paper group's Papermobile, an animated model of a pulp and paper mill.

A schedule has been arranged so all employees and their families will have the opportunity to make tours and special arrangements have been made for Thilmany retired personnel, members of the Chamber of Commerce and city officials. Retired employees will also be feted at a noon luncheon.

Conducted tours start at the lower mill where visitors see the wood being unloaded and follow it through the hot pond, debarking and chipping process, cooking, screening and all other steps which ultimately result in the finished paper product. The log is traced from its original stage to its finish as a colorful wrapping paper.

Founded in 1883, Thilmany grew from a small mill employing about eight people to a completely integrated pulp and paper mill employing over 1,500 men and women. The company manufactures specialty kraft wrapping paper used by hundreds of industries throughout the nation to wrap products.

Entrances to High School To be Rebuilt

Board of Education To Ask for Funds in Coming Year Budget

Kaukauna — The board of education Tuesday evening authorized the remodeling of main entrances at Kaukauna High school next year by agreeing to request funds for the project when submitting the 1959 budget.

Sketches of the entrances will be made to show what the work will look like. Much of the wall around the main entrance to the school is crumbling.

The insurance company announced boilers at the three public schools had been inspected and found safe for operation this term with no repairs needed. Bids for oil were received from four oil dealers and since all submitted the same price of $10.84 per gallon, it was decided to distribute oil usage as was done last year.

School Enrollment

Enrollment at Nicolet Grade school was listed at 306 or 19 more than last year. No figures were available for Park since classes have not yet started although they may get underway next week if construction work continues at the present rate.

The superintendent of schools was authorized to meet with school principals to discuss the feasibility of providing students with additional hospital and medical insurance through an outside agency and to report recommendations to the board of education.

A request by the Vocational school to use some high school classrooms for evening adult classes was also referred to administrators for solution. Dominic Bordini, Kaukauna Vocational school director, asked the board to permit his department to take over driver training program for the high school and this too was referred to administrators for study.

Board members agreed to investigate the possibility of purchasing four pianos, two to be used in the kindergarten and two in the high school. The high school music director will assist in the selection.

Board Votes Extension of Water System

Tenor Brothers Will Do Work At Little Chute

Little Chute — Extension of the village water system on E. Lincoln avenue was approved by the board Tuesday night.

Tenor Brothers of Green Bay will do the work since they are currently installing a sanitary sewer in the same area. The water line will be extended between 300 and 400 feet at a cost of $1.25 per foot. The board will decide on the exact footage when it visits the site this evening.

President Paul Kostka said it was a good time to extend the water line because the firm had all necessary equipment in the area, saving the village the extra cost of having it done later.

Drawbridge Repairs
In other action the village engineer was authorized to prepare a report of repairs necessary to the drawbridge. Estimated cost and time it is expected to last also must be included. The report will be turned over to the county board so the village can receive a $3,000 appropriation which the county has set up for repairs.

Driving the wrong way on a one way street can result in a fine of from $5 to $100, according to an ordinance adopted after presentation by the village attorney, Urban Van Susteren.

For the First Time Since 1940 the king of the Hollandtown Schut, to be held Sunday, will have a special cloak to wear. Formerly a special coat was presented the king but with all the medals it became too heavy and the practice was discontinued. Miss Martin Fink is shown sewing on the blue velvet cape which will be presented the king. It will be closed at the throat by the silver parrot presented the St. Francis Society by Queen Julianna of the Netherlands in 1956.

Use Queen's Clasp

King of Schut to Wear New Royal Blue Cape

Hollandtown — The king of the Schut will wear a new royal blue cape closed at the throat by the royal silver parrot clasp presented the St. Francis society by Queen Julianna of the Netherlands in 1956.

The king will be chosen Sunday in the ancient rites sponsored by the society for 109 years. He will be the marksman whose shot knocks off the last piece of the target bird. The Hollandtown ceremony is the only one of its kind in the United States. It perpetuates a ritual carried on in Holland since the days of the Christian missionaries of the Eighteenth century.

Mrs. Martin Fink is preparing the cape for the king. Start With Mass The festivities will start with a mass at St. Francis Catholic church at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Participants in the Schut will take part in a parade from the church to the shooting grounds. Young girls in Dutch costumes and members of the society led by the Rev. Raymond Conrad will also parade.

Father Conrad, substituting for the Very Rev. Msgr. John DeVries, who is traveling in Europe, will lead a memorial prayer for dead society members prior to the start of the shooting.

Dick Benzschawel of Greenleaf, last year's king, will have the first shot at the mock bird. The marksmen will take one shot in turn until the last piece has fallen from the 100-foot pole.

The last marksman is the king, but prizes also are given for the marksman knocking off the head, the wings and the tail.

A country-style dinner will be served after the morning shooting at Van Abel's hall.

Says Shelling of Islands Likely To Extend Strife

Taipei —Premier Chen Cheng said Tuesday if the red Chinese persist in sealing off the Quemoy offshore islands "it would mean extending the war."

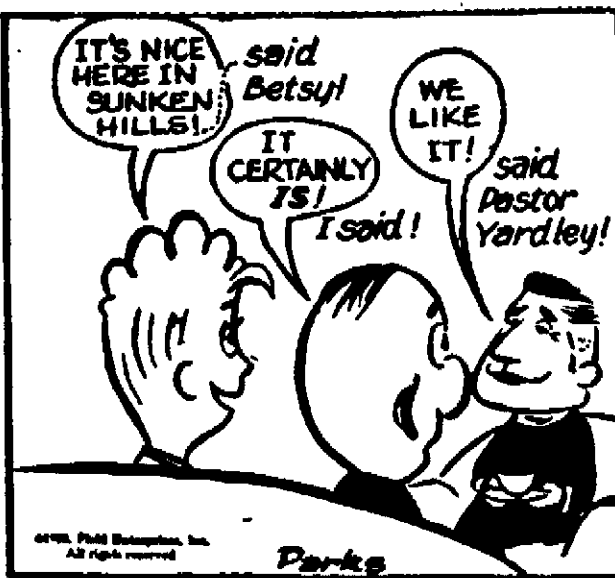

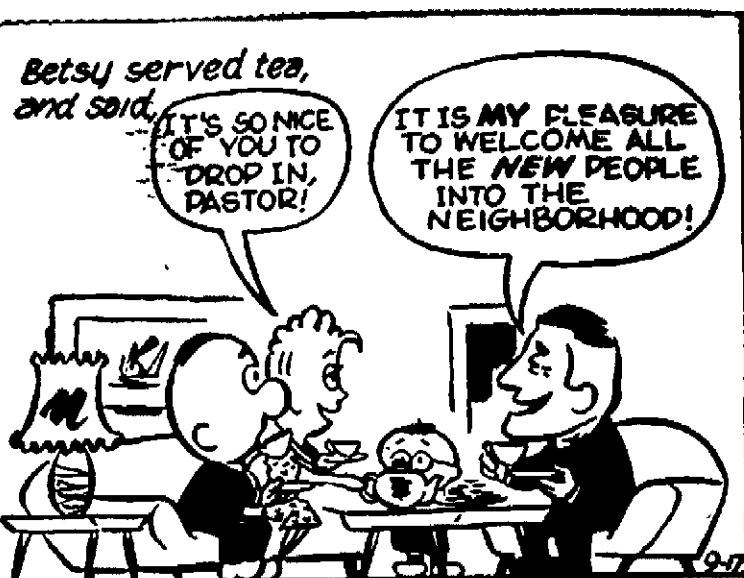

Chen, also nationalist China's vice president and heir apparent to Chiang Kai-shek, told parliament in a 4,000-word report:

"For the time being, we are merely answering the enemy's fire. We are patiently keeping on the defensive and trying to confine the enemy's flame of aggression to the smallest area possible."

But, he said, if the red Chinese attempt to seize the offshore islands, the war in Formosa strait would be extended to the China mainland.

The red shelling and the letters by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had, he declared, a common objective: "To force the United States continually to withdraw from the western Pacific and to prove again their propaganda line that the United States is but a 'Paper tiger'..."

Broadcasters Question New 'Equal' Time Rule

Permits Candidates to Use Subs To Answer Opponents on Radio, TV

BY JINGO

The National Association of Broadcasters has asked the federal communications commission to reconsider its ruling extending "equal time" provisions for political candidates to their spokesmen and supporters.

A socation Jingo President Harold E. Fellows told the FCC that a July 3 commission decision would create a terrible confusion.

The commission in a July 3 letter to D. L. Grace, Fort Smith, Ark., said a candidate offered equal time to answer an opponent "may use the facilities in any manner he sees fit," including having a spokesman appear for him.

Fellows, besides citing the 3-ring circus effect of the ruling in a national election year, pointed to a 1951 federal court decision which apparently restricts equal time rights to the legally qualified candidate himself. The decision made no mention of substitutes.

Jingo, for one, hopes Fellows agitates a public hearing on the issue. For, as John Wyngaard has demonstrated lately in his political columns, political speech-makers rarely say what they mean and even less often are entertaining or educational. What would their subs be like?

Jingo's Jewels: "Downbeat Magazine" has named the Six

Fat Dutchmen as the best polka band in the country for the third consecutive year. WBBM radio will broadcast the opening night of the 1958 season of the Lyric Opera of Chicago for the first time Friday night, Oct. 10. Verdi's "Falstaff" is the presentation. Mickey Rooney is the guest on "I've Got a Secret" at 8:30 tonight over WBAY-TV. Next week it's Art Linkletter. Week after: Roy Rogers.

Composed and sung by Johnny Western, the flip side features Richard Boone and Western in a dramatic narration, "The Guns of Rio Muerto." . . . Noel Willman, British star, will play the title role of "Count of Monte Cristo," the "Show of the Month" story for Oct. 28 on WBAY - TV . . . Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic will broadcast young people's concerts Saturday mornings of Dec. 13, Jan. 24, Feb. 28 and March 28 over WBAY-TV.

Sinatra Too Busy for TV

Contract Extended For Year Until His Movie Chores Over

BY JAMES BACON

Hollywood —(AP)— Frank Sinatra is so busy with movie-making that he won't have Randall, bounty hunter, carries in "Wanted — Dead or Alive," the new WBAY-TV Saturday feature, is a sawed off carbine. It's called a "mare's laig" and held in place with a clamp.

Interesting, but useless information: It's practically impossible to hit anything with a pistol beyond 50 yards. You might if you rest your gun the way Wyatt Earp sometimes does. But, if—like most TV westerns—you flip and jiggle your gun, you won't hit anything at 10 feet, let alone phony bad men or hotel in Las Vegas, where Sinatra is part owner.

time to collect a million dollars from TV this season. "I'll be busy making movies for a year solid," he says. "And I can only hit one pitch at a time."

He said his ABC-TV contract, which calls for $3 million in three years, will be extended a year.

Sinatra recently returned from the Madison, Ind., location of "Some Came Running." Despite published reports to the contrary, he says, he enjoyed Madison.

"It's a nice town with nice people," he said.

Busy Schedule

If there's any doubt that Sinatra is the most in demand actor in town, look at this schedule.

After a few more weeks on "Some Came Running," Sinatra's Hobart productions goes to Florida to make "All My Tomorrows," the movie version of the Broadway hit "A Hole in the Head."

It will be followed—if Frank can work it in—by his annual 4-week stint at the Sands or hotel in Las Vegas, where Sinatra is part owner.

State May Get Competitive Gas Lines

FPC Examiner
Expected to Okay
New Application

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — It looks as though the appeal Gov. Thomson made three years ago before the federal power commission, to permit competitive gas transmission lines to operate in Wisconsin, is finally going to be granted.

It was learned the presiding examiner of the federal power commission is expected to recommend in the near future approval of the application of Midwestern Gas Transmission company to augment its supply of gas by importing natural gas from Canada so it could serve a large number of new communities in Wisconsin.

The examiner, Francis L. Hall, already has rejected the application made by the Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line company to supply communities in Wisconsin with natural gas on the grounds that it had "failed to establish that it is able properly to do the acts and perform the service proposed." He also charged that Michigan Wisconsin's "proposed facilities and operation are not shown to be economically feasible."

Michigan Wisconsin company supplies the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

Customers Deprived

"If Michigan Wisconsin were permitted to sell the gas for the proposed new service, the present customers would be deprived of further use," Hall stated in his decision.

Further commenting on Michigan Wisconsin's application, Hall said the record was "so confusing and lacking in certain respects" he was unable to determine with any degree of accuracy what the company's cost of service would be in the new areas.

Indications he might grant Midwestern's application, which includes the request of up to 204,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas per day from Canada, were included in another statement in his rejection of Michigan Wisconsin's application.

Hall observed the "inadequacy of the showing made by Michigan Wisconsin makes it impossible to compare its presentation with that made by Midwestern."

This statement is reminiscent of one made by Thomson three years ago, when he pointed out to this correspondent that it was "interesting" that Michigan Wisconsin wanted to service additional communities in Wisconsin only after Midwestern and Tennessee Natural Gas Transmission company had asked for permission to come into the state.

Thinks Ike Has Averted New War

Washington — Secretary of the Army Brucker, back from a Far East tour, says President Eisenhower's no-appearance speech last week has averted a shooting war with red China.

Brucker said Monday the Formosa situation has eased but still is serious.

"The president's utterances have done a lot to cool it off," Brucker told newsmen on arriving at National airport from his 3-week tour. Without Eisenhower's statement "this would have been a shooting war," he said.

"I think the president's statement has done a great deal to put that situation in the proper perspective in the free and the communist worlds," the army secretary added.

"I look to see quite a difference in the next 30 days," Brucker said he found Formosa calm with "no hysteria, no panic."

Chinese Need U. S. Aid Quickly, Alsop Claims

Nationalists Can't Break Blockade; West Must Help or Accept Defeat

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

Tainan, Formosa — The best commentary on the president's great speech this reporter can offer must begin with a pretty unimportant personal experience.

At 2:30 Saturday morning we set off for Quemoy.

It was one of those wartime departures that make you feel your age—haste and horribly early rising at the outset; distribution of tin hats and other mild drama at the airport; and then an interminable, weary wait followed by a bumpy takeoff in pitch darkness in a raddled old C-46 that looked like a plain, dumpy old woman whom the years have dealt with unkindly.

All the same, we were cheerful at takeoff and, throughout the long flight across the Formosa strait, the word at Taipei, wrong as it was, was that the word in all higher headquarters was that the communists were letting the airstrip on the Quemoy beach pretty much alone.

Turned Back

So it was a sharp surprise when the lanky veteran Chinese captain came back from the cockpit, a few minutes before our landing time, to tell us we had been ordered to turn back. All the Quemoy beaches, he said, had been under heavy fire for the last 24 hours.

Here at Tainan, the last-minute effort to beef up the Chinese air force has abruptly increased the American contingent from 100 to 500 men. Hence facilities are a bit strained. Yet the clear-eyed C-46 load was received with the customary hospitality of American soldiers in wartime.

So here, in the idle talk of the men waiting on the dusty airstrip, we have had bloody Tarawa and bloody Iwo Jima—those place names so glorified, that they all but dazzle to this day. We have had the Normandy beaches, and Bastogne, and the story of a brash American reporter who tried to make the exceptionally tough but dignified Chinese commander on Quemoy talk like Gen. MacAuliffe.

Nationalist Pilots

From an American pilot on training duty here, we have had the story of the superb success of the Chinese nationalist pilots, fighting the communist MIG-17's with their obsolescent F-86's with the tactics Chennault invented for P-40's against Zeroes. And we have had other tales, all of them stirring, all of them comforting, except for the unheroic and macabre story of American policy in China in wartime, contributed by this reporter.

On the surface, it has been a wasted day following an aborted mission. But has this day been really wasted?

Not altogether, is the answer. In the first place, the key problem out here—the blockade of Quemoy, which is not a simple naval blockade but a very rough artillery blockade. The Chinese nationalists, who are enormously out-gunned, cannot break this artillery blockade.

If Sec. Dulles cannot secure a cease-fire by diplomacy, President Eisenhower will almost surely have to make a hard choice. He will either have to break his blockade with American power or accept failure in this final test of America's strength of will, which he has so nobly expressed.

And this day has not been wasted in another way, too. Often in the past, one has wanted to write the president, "Mr. President, how much you can do, if you will only use your powers and the power of your office!" But the talk on the airstrip has suggested another letter. "Mr. President, how much the country that you lead can do, if you will only summon up its powers!"

Japanese Teachers Walk Out in Protest of Efficiency Ratings

Tokyo — Some 250,000 elementary and high school teachers throughout Japan staged a half-day walkout today in protest against the government's new teacher efficiency rating system.

The strike was considered only partially successful by the Japan Teachers Union which had hoped all its 500,000 members would walk out.

The rating system, which takes effect today, calls for principals to regularly submit efficiency reports on their teachers to higher authorities.

The left-wing teachers' union says the move is designed to force teachers to play ball with the government and has authoritarian overtones that conflict with democratic education.

Reinke Vows Race to Beat Zimmerman

'Amateur Running On Father's Name,' Candidate Charges

Madison — Youthful Jerome Reinke, Kewaunee, who occupies what most politicians regard as the least desirable place on the Democratic state ticket, is conceding nothing in his campaign to dislodge Republican Robert C. Zimmerman as secretary of state.

Reinke, a crippled veteran of World War II and former Kewaunee mayor, proposes to destroy the vote-getting legends attached to the name of Zimmerman.

"We've got to get rid of the idea that anybody with the name of Zimmerman is unbeatable," he told a party meeting here.

"This fellow is just an amateur, running on his father's name. I'm an amateur too, but I'm running on my own," he went on.

Robert Zimmerman two years ago won the office held for many years by the late Fred R. Zimmerman, who often led the Republican ticket. The son showed some of the same punch when in 1956 he defeated an appointed incumbent and won the office handsily.

In other years Democrats had their troubles recruiting candidates to oppose Zimmerman. This year there were of World War II and former Kewaunee mayor, proposes

Pirates' Witt Captures 7th In Succession

Bucs Take Two Decisions From Cards; Cubs Win

(From AP Dispatches)

Pittsburgh gained a half-game on Milwaukee and chopped its "magic number" for clinching second place in the National league to two Tuesday, beating St. Louis, 3-1, after wrapping up a 2-1 victory in the completion of a game suspended Aug. 3.

Cincinnati took a two-night pair from Los Angeles, 5-3 and 7-5, in 10 innings. The Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia, 10-8, in 10 innings. Milwaukee trimmed San Francisco, 4-1.

Stuart, Skinner Star
Rookie right-hander George Witt (9-2) backed up by Bob Skinner's RBI singles, became the first NL pitcher to win seven in a row this year as the Pirates finished last month's curfewed game. The Bucs, now six games behind Milwaukee, won the nightcap with Dick Stuart and Skinner driving in all the runs. Each had three hits. Ron Kline (13-15) won it. Wilmer Mizell (10-13) and Bob Mabe (2-7) were the losers.

A pinch, 2-run homer by "Smoky" Burgess won the nightcap for the Redlegs, who took the opener on home runs by Jerry Lynch, Pete Whisenant and rookie "Dutch" Dotterer that doomed the Dodgers to their first sub-.500 season since 1944. Brooks Lawrence (8-12) and Tom Acker (4-3) were the winners. Johnny Podres (13-14) and Johnny Klippstein (6-6) took the defeats.

A 2-run single by Al Dark bagged it for the Cubs and gave rookie John Buzhardt his first major league decision. Rookie Don Erickson lost his first for the Phils.

Badger Eleven Drills Against Miami Plays

Madison — Sid Williams, currently the only able-bodied quarterback at Wisconsin, saw double duty Tuesday as football coach. Bill Bruhn sent his first and second teams through a defensive session.

The first two squads concentrated on stopping a freshman team using plays expected to be unfolded by Miami in the season opener in Florida Sept. 26.

The Badgers also spent a portion of the time polishing their offensive with Williams' hot-calling plays for both sides. Injuries kept Dale Hack-tombert, figured as the starter, and Francis "Shorty" Young out of action.

Burdette Topples Giants for 12th Straight Time, 4-1

Lew's 18th Victory Shaves Braves' 'Magic Number' to 3

By The Associated Press

Lew Burdette, a betroubled World Series hero at the All-Star game, now has a shot at 20 victories and his winningest season in the majors. The big right-hander who had only a 6-7 record in early July, has won 12 of 15 decisions since. And he's won seven of his last eight, with two shutouts and three 1-run games for a 1.08 earned run average over the last month. Burdette, whose best winning year was 1956, when he was 19-10, nailed his eighteenth Tuesday night as the Milwaukee Braves whipped San Francisco, 4-1, and cut their magic number for a second straight National league pennant to three.

Burdette gave up seven hits, one a fifth-inning homer by Bill White. The Braves sent Johnny Antonelli with three in the seventh, when three errors followed Felix Mantilla's lead-off triple.

White Squares It
A crowd of 31,081 chilled fans watched Burdette extend his mastery over the Giants to 12 straight decisions. He last lost to them four years ago to the day.

Willie Mays collected two man team using plays expected to be unfolded by Miami in the season opener in Florida Sept. 26.

The Badgers also spent a portion of the time polishing their offensive with Williams' hot-calling plays for both sides. Injuries kept Dale Hack-tombert, figured as the starter, and Francis "Shorty" Young out of action.

Neun, Lopat Watch Lew's Every Move

BY CHUCK CAPALDO

Milwaukee — Two men, the collars of their sport jackets turned up against the chill of the evening, showed more than fan interest in the Milwaukee Braves' Lew Burdette at County stadium Tuesday night.

They watched his every move—and there were many. As usual—the perpetual Burdette as a "kid with a motion righthander tamed the San Francisco Giants for the twelfth straight time in four years, 4-1.

Reports to Casey
The observers, seated in a box behind and a little to the right of home plate, were New York Yankee scouts Johnny Neun and Ed Lopat, the former pitcher.

he earned last season when he conquered the Yanks three times in the series.

Neun has been compiling a no-call book on the Braves. The Yankees' probable opponents in the fall classic, for the last 21 weeks. Lopat recently at County stadium Tuesday replaced Bill Skiff.

Lopat, known as "Steady Eddie" when he pitched for the Yankees, remembered as usual—the perpetual Burdette as a "kid with a pretty good fast ball" when the fifty-one came up briefly with the Bombers in 1950. The following year New York sent Burdette and $50,000 cash to the Braves for Johnny Sain.

"Now he specialized in breaking stuff," Lopat said. "If he can get the ball over he's tough. It's difficult to control the ball when he moves it in and out all the time."

Neun said he believes the Braves are stronger this season than last, mainly because of their pitching.

Uppermost in his mind, of course, was Burdette and his mastery over the Yankees a year ago.

Menasha — Mid - Eastern conference eleven, given a miserable time by their non-league opponents last week-end, will swing into championship competition this week-end with four games.

Friday night's fracas sends Menasha to Shawano, Two Rivers to Kaukauna and Clintonville to New London. Kimberly will be at Neenah in a Saturday afternoon affair.

Defending champion Neenah, unbeaten the last two seasons, extended its winning string to 18 by edging Fond du Lac, 9-6, Friday night to account for the league's only victory against outside opposition.

The seven losses ranged from one point (Kaukauna's 14-13 loss to Sheboygan North) to 21 (Two Rivers to Manitowoc, 21-0).

Rockets Lose 20
Most of the clubs have good-sized groups of returning lettermen and a closer race is expected than the last two years when Neenah ran away with all honors. The Rockets lost 20 lettermen from its fine squad and only has eight returnees. However, its jayvee teams have been unbeaten for four seasons and the Red and White has some fine sophomore prospects.

Marlon Batterman, who succeeds Tom Porter at Neenah, is the circuit's only new coach. Porter moved on to become head mentor at St. Olaf college. Batterman comes here with outstanding records at Marinette and Wautoma.

Begins 17th Year
Tony Ellis of Clintonville is beginning his seventeenth year to rank as the dean of conference coaches. Other returnees are Carl Steffen, Menasha, and Floyd Dietz, Two Rivers, in their seventh campaigns; Bob Dehlinger, New London, and Jim Nirschl, Kimberly, opening their fourth years and Wally Rounce, Shawano, and Fred Barribeau, Kaukauna, in their second.

Graduation took all of the all-conference team's offensive and defensive lineup. The departees include Bill Meyer, Kent Simerson, Jim Miller, Ed Meyer, Dave Thomsen and Gene Gries, Neenah; Roger Vanervenhoven, Tom McAndrews, Bill Campbell, Bill Simon, Jack Pomeroy, Dale Kemp and Ed Wettstein, Kaukauna; Wayne Poppy, New London; Ken Konezke, Menasha; Ron Buchberger, Russ Huebner and Charlie Zierris, Clintonville; Leon Gospodarek, Two Rivers, and John Cantwell, Shawano.

Oshkosh—Green Bay East's Red Devils, who romped impressively in their season opener, have been pegged as the favorite for the 1958 Fox River Valley conference football championship.

League sportswriters, meeting here Tuesday night, selected Oshkosh as East's prime contender for grid laurels. The Indians also showed power in their non-league inaugural.

Defending champion Appleton and Manitowoc are expected by the writers to grab the other first division spots and challenge the favorites.

The Terror's relegation to third place in the crystal ball-gazing session marked a departure from recent meetings. Usually, the defending titlist was figured as the leading championship contender.

The loss of all six all-FRVC performers from the 1957 club and the lack of experience and weight in the 1958 Terror line apparently influenced the writers.

East, with a pair of fancy halfbacks — Bernie Van Boxel and Don Bangert — and a quarterback who has already won two letters — Gabe Biemeret — easily romped over Preble, 28-0, in its opener.

Coach Al Reed's club lost to champion AHS by just two points (9-7) last year and was in title contention up until the final game of the season when it fell to Green Bay West.

Among the other five returning lettermen is all-conference tackle Eldon Bloedorn.

East was picked first on five ballots, second on one and fourth on two.

Oshkosh whipped perennially strong Wausau, 19-7, in its opener. The Indians have an

New York — Which is the tougher sport, pro football or boxing? Charlie Powell, who has tried both, says you take more of a physical beating in football.

The former defensive end and line backer with San Francisco 49ers didn't sign his contract this year, electing to try a "comeback" in boxing. His interrupted ring career, dating back to 1953, shows a 17-3-1 record for 21 fights.

"I've seen some Sunday nights after a football game when I felt worse physically than after a fight," he said. "I would say your body takes more of a physical beating in football. Maybe you take more head punishment in boxing."

Asked if Tebbetts was being considered for an executive post with the Braves, Cairnes replied there would be no announcement regarding the probably need an executive front office until after the World Series.

Tebbetts, released recently by the Redlegs' manager, reportedly is a candidate for an administrative post with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Vikes' Heselton Pleased With Club's Progress

Most of Injured Should be Ready For Opening Tilt

The Lawrence college varsity football team had what Coach Bernie Heselton termed a "very good defensive scrimmage" against the Viking frosh Tuesday afternoon.

It was the last big Lawrence scrimmage before Saturday's season opener against Coe college at Whiting field. Heselton has been pleased with his club's progress in its three weeks of drills.

Hulking tackle Jim Reiskyt came up with a "charley horse" in the Tuesday workout but the big senior should be ready for Coe along with several other ailing Vikes.

List Others
These include: junior tackle Gil Sutherland, who is suffering from a bruised rib and left halfback Dave Mulford, who was bothered by the recurrence of leg trouble which he originally suffered as a sophomore.

Right end Pete Walch is ailing with a pulled muscle in his leg and the affliction seems to be responding to treatment less well than the others'. His spot in the starting lineup may be taken by Kaukauna sophomore Joe Lamers.

"Our morale is good and the boys are starting to get mentally ready for Coe," Heselton said today.

Two new candidates have reported—junior end Jim Moore and sophomore right halfback Tom Gellendin.

Approximately 30 candidates are out for the Viking frosh team which practices with the varsity.

5 Fox Cities Area Cagers Are UW Frosh

Madison — Five Fox Cities area players are among the players who have signed up for the University of Wisconsin freshman basketball team, which starts practice Oct. 15.

They are Appleton High school grads Jack Ullwelling and Howie Hamann, Menasha's Bob Prange, Neenah's Pete Bylow and Marion's Terry Balderson.

Other familiar area names included on the prospective frosh roster announced by Coach "Bud" Foster are Shawano's Marty Gharriy, Green Bay East's, Tom Hughbanks, Manitowoc's Bill Nelson and Sheboygan's Paul Testwuide.

Gaspar Ortega Favored Over Jordan Tonight

Portland, Ore. — Gaspar Ortega, the top-ranked welterweight challenger, was favored slightly in a scheduled 10-round bout here tonight with Don Jordan. The fight will be televised by ABC.

Sports reporters who have watched both fighters in workouts said Ortega should enter the ring as about an 8-5 favorite.

Despite 20 knockouts, Ortega is given but a 1-3 chance to kayo Jordan, who has never been stopped in climbing to his present No. 6 position among title challengers.

Ortega has a 48-11-2 record, Jordan 41-11-1.

A million Braves' fans are expected to sign the policy.

Madison — The state conservation commission decided Tuesday that more study is needed before it can make another move in its probe of the policies and practices of the fish management division of the Conservation department.

More than 150 persons, many of them standing, jammed a small conference room as the commission met to consider sportsmen's charges that the division had overstocked trout streams and understocked walleyed pike and muskies.

The commission was scheduled to gather at a regular meeting today, and there was a chance the question could come up again at that time.

Divergent Views
The commissioners called the public meeting to hear what it expected would be widely divergent views on the many variations in the division's program. It got about as many opinions as it expected, and had not been provided with funds he felt Arthur of Janesville said he were adequate to conduct research programs.

Lary Beats Yanks For Seventh Time This Season, 4-2

Tiger Hurler Is First to Accomplish Feat in 42 Years

Detroit — Don't drag out that old "Break up the Yankees" routine around Frank Lary.

Without them, the drawing son of an Alabama peach farmer is just another pitcher. But because of them, the 27-year-old Detroit Tiger right-hander is a big league success.

Lary defeated the American league champions Tuesday for the sixteenth time in 21 career decisions, puching a brilliant 3-nitter in a 4-2 triumph that tightened the Tiger's grip on third place.

This is the seventh victory and sixth complete game in eight starts this year for Lary against New York, and he has yielded only 14 earned runs in 67 2-3 innings.

So-So Record
Despite his so-so record against other clubs, Lary now ranks among the all-time Yankee killers. Big Ed Walsh, now critically ill with cancer, posted a 9-1 record against the cellar-dwelling bombers of 1908 and a 7-3 mark against the 1911 New York team that finished sixth. Ed Cicotte posted a 7-1 mark in 1916 against a fourth-place Yankee crew.

No one had beaten the Yanks seven times in a season in the 42 years between the deeds of Cicotte and Lary. "Well, sir," said the craftsman Casey Stengel calls the Little Bulldog, "I just don't know where I'd be without those Yankees."

The Yankee manager was in no mood to talk about Lary's accomplishments. "If I knew what was causing me a headache," said Stengel, "don't you think I'd go out and get me a cure?"

"I don't pitch any differently against New York than against any other team," said Lary.

Has Confidence
"Sure, I have confidence when I go against them and everybody likes to beat the Yankees. But maybe they have the idea they can't beat me. That would help, wouldn't it?"

While the Tigers gained nothing less than a season tie with the Yankees, Chicago's second-place White Sox beat Baltimore, 4-3, and Cleveland tied Boston for fourth by beating Washington, 5-1, on rookie Gary Bell's 2-hitter. Boston was rained out at Kansas City.

Lary, 7-1, against the Yankees, gave up singles to Tony Kubek in the fourth inning and Jerry Lumpe and Marv Throneberry in the fifth. But they were good for a 2-0 Yankee lead as relief ace Rync Duren pitched a 4-hit shutout over five innings in his first start. The Tigers then scored off rookie Zack Bonroe (4-2) in the sixth, and won it on Gus Zernial's pinch, 2-run double in the seventh.

Lollar Homers
Sherm Lollar's twentieth home run capped a tying, 3-run third for the White Sox, who bagged it on Billy Goodman's single, a walk and "Bubba" Phillips' third single in the eighth. Dick Donovan (14-13) won it. Hoyt Wilhelm (2-10) was the loser.

Bell (11-8), who pitched six innings of no-hit ball against Boston in his last start, put down the Senators on a first-inning single by Herb Plews and a ninth-inning single by rookie Bob Allison. The Nats scored in the eighth on two walks and a sacrifice fly. Bell also was 4-for-4, driving in a run in an four-run seventh against loser Pete Romas (14-15).

Bears' Wightkin Retires; Watkins Put on Waivers
Chicago — The Chicago Bears have placed waivers on four players, including 8-year veteran and Bill Wightkin, former Notre Dame football star. Wightkin announced his retirement Tuesday and took a Bear scouting job.

The Bears, unbeaten in five exhibition football games this year, also asked waivers on Bobby Watkins, fourth-year halfback from Ohio State; M. L. Brackett, third-year tackle from Auburn and Dick Lucas, rookie end from Boston college.

20-18 Win Over Detroit Leaves Vivid Impression on Johnny Blood

BY JACK RUDOLPH

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — Johnny McNally is running for sheriff of St. Croix county. John McNally may be elected, but he'll never make that handle stuck, even though it is his real name.

To the hometown folks in

Fifth of Series

New Richmond and to football fans everywhere, he'll be Sheriff Johnny Blood.

It was as Johnny Blood that McNally galloped and caroused his way to fame as the legendary "Vagabond Halfback" of the great 1929-31 triple champions. Not only was he a splendid football player who loved everything about the game except the final whistle; he was as colorful as a circus parade and as explosive and unpredictable as a Vanguard rocket.

Vivid Recollections
Johnny is 54 now, an erect, striking man with grey flecked hair, as trim as when he was flitting through a broken field for the Bays.

Blood has many memories of gridiron triumphs, but the game he recalls most vividly is the cliffhanger with the Detroit Lions Oct. 18, 1936, which the Packers won, 20-18, en route to their fourth title.

Let's let Johnny tell it himself, as he did recently to a sports writer for the St. Paul Dispatch.

"I was late in signing up with the Packers that year because Lambeau and I were having some disagreements. In this game he told me not to throw a certain pass, but with a 10-0 lead in the first quarter I threw it anyway.

"They intercepted it and Lambeau yanked me out, telling me that if Detroit won it would be my fault.

A Spectacular Catch
"Well, Detroit started to roll and by the time the fourth quarter came around they led, 16-10 (Wrong Johnny; it was 15-10). I had been benched ever since the first period, but with the fans yelling for Blood to come in, Lambeau put me back into the game.

"We had the ball on our 40-yard line and on the first play I called the same pass Lambeau had previously told me not to throw. This time he hadn't told me not to use the play.

"Arnie Herber threw the ball a good 60 yards to me and I caught it on the goal line on a spectacular catch which I don't know to this day how I managed to hold.

"We made the extra point and went ahead, 17-15. But Detroit started moving again after the kickoff and kicked a field goal to go ahead again, 18-17.

"With a minute left to play, Detroit kicked off to us and I ran the kickoff back to the 50. I caught a pass on the 18 and then "Tiny" Engenbretson kicked a field goal to give us a 20-18 victory.

"I believe I contributed more to winning that ball game than any I ever played in."

After an 8-year stint with the Packers, Blood became playing coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers for three seasons, winding up the second longest playing career in the annals of the NFL in 1939. He coached a couple of years at Kenosha, served for three years as an Air Corps cryptographer in the China-Burma-India Theater during World

New York Batters Make Yanks 7-5 World Series Pick

New York — In man-to-man betting here, the New York Yankees are 7-5 favorites over the Milwaukee Braves in the coming World Series.

Local bettors made the American league champions the favorites despite the Braves' victory in the 1957 series and the Yankees' late-season slump this year.

The series is scheduled to open Wednesday, Oct. 1 in the park of the National league champions.

The first game, to be played in Milwaukee unless the Braves collapse, is rated among New York bettors as a pick 'em affair at even money.

Strict Gag Rule Imposed on Crew of British Yacht

Newport, R. I. — A strict gag rule was imposed on crew members of the Sceptre, and the British withdrew into a tight little shell today—three days before they make their bid for the America's cup.

"No interviews with our sailors, starting immediately," said the traveling secretary and press attaché of the mission at a news conference.

One Exception
The attaché, Tad Bedding, said there would be one mild exception.

Graham Mann, helmsman of the challenging yacht, will attend a press conference Thursday, but even then he will not have full freedom.

Syndicate members will supervise the session.

This latest directive is in line with the cloak-and-dagger secrecy which has marked Britain's new attempt to recapture the cup which has resided on these shores for 107 years.

The Sceptre will meet the United States' Columbia Saturday in the first race of a best-of-7 race series between trim 12-meter boats—successors to the majestic, million-dollar "J" boats which last competed for the trophy in 1937.

16 Attempts
Since the schooner America whipped a fleet of British yachts around the Isle of Wight in 1851, there have been 16 attempts to recover the simple trophy, none successful.

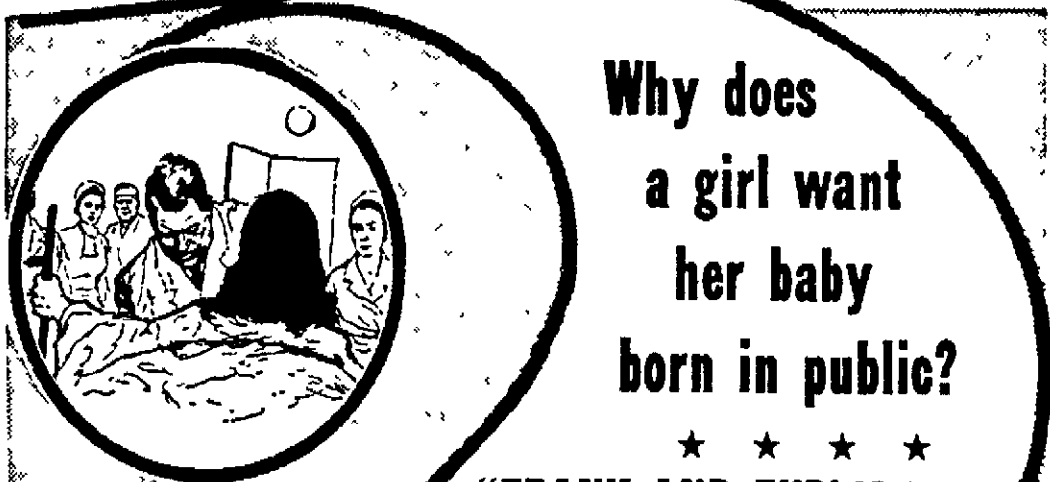

The Sceptre was built under warlike security in Scotland by an 11-man syndicate of the Royal Yacht squadron. She never has had an official race while Columbia has logged 692 nautical miles in 29 regatta races.

Virtually nothing is known of Sceptre's speed or her crew.

The double play started when Braves first baseman Joe Adcock fielded Orlando Cepeda's grounder, stepped on first for one out and then threw to Mantilla who tagged Mays for the double play. The Braves won, 4-1.

offensive line which averages 194 pounds, left in the defensive line and several good runners in halfbacks Dick Konrad and Larry Schoenberger and fullback Don Lehmann, (currently out with an injury).

The Indians were chosen first on three ballots, second on two, and third, fourth and fifth on the others.

The Terrors drew a second and a fourth place vote and six third places. Appleton also won its opener, 12-0, over Menasha.

Manitowoc, too, impressed in a 21-0 triumph over Two Rivers. The Ships had 27 points in the voting, ranking behind East's 15, Oshkosh's 19 and Appleton's 24. Voting was on the basis of one point for a first place selection, two for second, etc.

Green Bay West was a clear-cut choice for fifth with 37 points. Sheboygan North was sixth with 52, Fond du Lac seventh with 56 and Sheboygan Central eighth with 58.

Another close league race was predicted. The club-by-club rundown follows.

Green Bay East — Coach Al Reed hopes his thirteenth season as head coach here, will be a lucky one and has eight lettermen to help make it so. Besides 2-time letter-winners Bloedorn, Van Boxel and Biemeret he has Bangert and Timm Hurst, fullback — who gained 145 yards in five carries last year — and Darrell McArthur, end tackles Bill Kepler and Bob Dave Krebsbach, tackles Dar-Lafrombois, linebacker Gene Malcore, and guard Bill and guard Al White. Joe "Moose" Kepler, as other lettered vets.

Oshkosh — The Indians have seven lettermen on hand, including the 6-2, 207-pound Lehmann who looms as a key performer in the Oshkosh future. Others are tackle Jim McCarthy, end DuWayne Hansene, center Jim Bradke, halfbacks Larry Schoenberger and Dave Schraa and quarterback Bob Frank. Coach Harold Schumert's outfit was led by Konrad (92 yards) and Lehmann (89 yards) against Wausau. Bob Bucholtz, starting halfback last year, isn't playing due to a knee injury.

Appleton — Of veteran Coach Ade (sixteenth season) Dillon's 10 lettermen only four were starters in 1957. One was offensive right half Mike Franzke, the other three were defensive backs Bob Henning and Bob Roemer and fullback-linebacker Joe Eich. The Terrors will probably be a bit faster than was last season's bulky club. Other lettermen here are: backs John Nussbaum and Dennis Tank and linemen Tom Kotke, Bob Lecy, Don Bunkler and Bob Thomas.

Manitowoc — The loss of three lettermen due to training violations hurts. But lilla tripled to the right field corner and continued home when second baseman Daryl Spencer threw the outfield relay over the head of third baseman Jim Davenport.

"Casey" Wise fled out, but Spencer uncorked another errant peg on Eddie Mathews' grounder for a 2-base error. Aaron singled in Mathews and stole second with two down and Pakfo up.

Pakfo hit a hopper back to Al Worthington, who had relieved Antonelli, and Worthington pitched the ball over the first baseman's head, Aaron scoring the third run of the inning. Burdette took care of the rest.

The Braves move on to St. Louis tonight for the opener of a 2-game series. Warren Spahn will seek his twenty-first victory. He has dropped 10. The Cards will counter with Larry Jackson, 12-12.

SHEBOYGAN NORTH — North opened with a 14-13 win over Kaukauna and has 11 lettermen back. These include speedster halfback Jim Schmitt, halfback Jerry Hummetsch, quarterback Pete Jung, fullback Jim Zabel, Bernie Lemkuil and Leroy Matzdorf ends, Dave Majcen and Bill Buesse, tackles, Dick Gottsacker and Tom Wick, guards, and Tom Schinabeck, center. Bob Root returns as head coach.

FOND DU LAC — Quarterback "Hub" King, who is a glittering prospect for a big baseball bonus upon graduation, has decided to play football in this, his senior year. The Cards gave rugged Neenah a fight before losing, 9-6 last week.

SHEBOYGAN CENTRAL — The Redmen have the disadvantage of having played no non-conference season opener. Veteran mentor Earl Zimmerman is building around just six lettermen — quarterback Dave Garton, halfbacks Bobby Ayers and Lee Kernen, ends Reed Tupper and Phil Nack and center Bob Schmidt.

men include halfback Jim Hensen, regular halfback last year, quarterback Bill Kuehl and fullback Dick Wilson.

Returnees in the line are Dick Bruce, guard; Jerry Moder, center; Dale Ramich and Don Jensen, ends and Larry Rhymer and Harlan Hirsch, tackles. Guard Mitch Miller, a junior, who scored the winning touchdown against Fond du Lac, completes the lineup.

KAUKAUNA — Barrie e a u has 10 lettermen on his squad of 40. The group includes two regulars of a year ago, Gary Vanevenhoven, left halfback and captain, and fullback Bill Britten.

Other returnees are Terry Sharron, Roy Brownell and Tony VanZeeland, seniors, and Doug Ludvigson, Gary Nowak, Jim Martzahl, Bruce Ludke and Myron Zachowski, juniors.

MENASHA — Steffin has seven lettermen from last year's club which has a 4-3-1 overall mark. Linemen include Charlie Weber and Bob MacAloon, regular tackles last year; Dick Taves, returning center; guard Dick Wenz, and tackle-center Dave Emrich.

Returning backs are Tom Stepanski, left halfback, and Dave Robinson, quarterback, both second year regulars. Steffin is counting on a good sophomore crop to fill graduation vacancies.

The Bluejays fell to Appleton, 12-0, in their opener last Friday.

TWO RIVERS — Dietz's squad of 47 candidates includes 10 lettermen. The Raiders figure to have one of the biggest lines in the circuit with several 200-pounders.

Backfield veterans are Lee Ostreich, Emery Panosh, Dave Emond and Todd Easley. Linemen include Dale Kozlowski, Gene Pano s h, Gene Ankam, Dick Kloppe, Bob Klinker and Dick Knope.

SHAWANO — The Indians have a squad of 50 candidates including 13 lettermen. Another letterman moved from the city and a second didn't report. Gone is John Cantwell, the one-man gang of last year. Returnees are Loren Rouse, Ken Ketchenago, Roger Dodge, Stan Saltzman, Bill Teetzen, Glen Seering, Mike Saktok and Dave Beyer, linemen, and Guy Booth, Bill Krenger, Dick Frechette, Harley Lyons and "Chuck" LaMarche, backs.

Shawano bowed to Merrill, 19-6, in its non-league opener last Friday.

KIMBERLY — The Papermakers with a roster of 13 lettermen on a squad of 39 rate as one of the title contenders. The young Kimberly team surprised by finishing third last year.

Returnees are Dave Schimmers, Joe Bolwerk, Don Hearden and Dan Vandenberg, backs, and Barry DeLeeuw, Jeff Curtin, Ray Pitch, Don Fries, Darrell Jansen, Jack Lamers, Chuck Williams, Ed Bittorf and Gary Kuborn, linemen.

The Papermakers lost, 13-6 to a good Little Chute St. John team in their inaugural.

CLINTONVILLE — The Trunkers have a young team with eight returning lettermen with only four seniors who are expected to be in the starting lineup.

Returnees are Leon Westphal, Jim Petcka, Keith Lambie, Archie Gough and Jerry Sinkewicz, backs, and Jim Suttles, Ed Meister, and Wayne Moder, linemen. The Trunkers fell to Porttage High, 12-0 in its warm-up game.

NEW LONDON — The Bulldogs wound up their 1957 season by defeating Menasha, 19-6, for their first league victory in five years. From that squad Dehlinger has nine lettermen.

Returning players are Dave Huntley, Dale Wauseshock, Bill Noak, Bill Drews, Ted Ebert, Harold Fielding and Tom Wilson, linemen, and Ray Langner and Jim Glock, backs.

The Bulldogs dropped a 12-6 decision to Seymour in their non-league fray.

Buick Uses More Glass

'Picture Window' Featured in Hardtops On Display Friday

Flint, Mich. — Buick today introduced its 1959 cars, featuring new styling described by General Manager Edward T. Ragsdale as "a whole new concept in automotive design."

The entire line of 17 models shows a lavish use of glass with huge compound windshields that curve back into the roof, eliminating wind noise when the car is in motion. Four-door hardtops feature a giant curved glass "picture window" in the rear.

All models are lower and wider than last year and all series have been given new names.

The new cars will go on display in dealer showrooms Friday.

The 1959 Buicks come in three series: LeSabre, the lowest-priced in the line; Invicta, the outstanding performer, and Electra, the luxury series.

LeSabre and Invicta are mounted on a 123-inch wheelbase and measure 217.4 inches in length. Electra models are available in two overall lengths.

Hardtop models are under 55 inches in height, but headroom remains approximately the same as last year.

Electra and Invicta models are equipped with a new Wildcat V-8 engine with 401 cubic inch displacement and a four-barrel carburetor. The compression ratio is 10.5-to-1.

The Wildcat engine in LeSabre has a 364-cubic inch displacement and is equipped with a 2-barrel carburetor.

The new styling is highlighted by "delta-wing" rear fenders that flare outward at a jaunty angle. The twin headlights are canted at an angle to carry out the design in the front end.

The new 4-door hardtop design features a flat roof line with a slender pillar behind each rear door. The area behind the rear door pillars is enclosed in a huge, curved "picture window" inclosing the rear passenger compartment.

In 2-door hardtops the rear window curves up into the roof. The roof itself has been shortened to give rear seat passengers the illusion of sitting in the open.

A new kind of air ride, a combination of air springs in the rear and coil springs in front, is optional on all models. Buick is the first in the industry to adopt this type of suspension.

Aluminum front wheel brake drums, which Buick pioneered last year, also are standard on all models in 1959.

In addition, air-cooled brakes are offered for the first time on the rear. This provides smoother stopping and longer lining life.

24 Lettermen Back

MSU Well Stocked Despite Big Losses

BY JERRY LISK

East Lansing, Mich. —P—

"Duffy" Daugherty of Michigan State agreed with Ohio State's "Woody" Hayes that the best way to settle football championships is on the field.

Ohio State this week was named the nation's No. 1 team on the Associated Press pre-season poll. Michigan State which does not meet Ohio State in Big Ten play this season was ranked No. 4, behind Oklahoma and Notre Dame.

Ohio State and Michigan State figure to head a ding-dong scrap for the Big Ten title being defended by the Buckeyes. Iowa and Wisconsin also rate as strong contenders.

As a matter of fact, Daugherty thinks Purdue, Illinois or Michigan also might sneak in and "pick up all the marbles."

On The Field — The only way to settle who is best is to do it on the field," said Daugherty, whose practice of substituting freely has left him well stocked despite loss of 22 lettermen from his once-beaten 1957 team.

But Daugherty's Spartans lost their entire starting backfield from the team beaten only by Purdue last season. They also lost All-America center Dan Currie, six lettermen tackles and five lettermen ends.

What, then, is cooking with the Spartans? For one thing, Daugherty has 24 returning lettermen.

Obviously, Michigan State's recruiting program rounds up a lot of talent. But Daugherty's success formula may be weekend. She had also fired in his practice of alternating three teams during the season. "It prevents lean years if you don't rely on one senior-predominated team," explained Daugherty, starting his fifth Spartan season.

Moves Up as Unit — As a result, Daugherty's second backfield of a year Builders' league at Hahn's Monday night.

Gordon Seavers slugged a 568 for laurels in the Knights of Columbus National league Monday night. Harold Lippert's 564 paced the Builders' wheel at Hahn's.

Other honor scores: CIGARET: Lolita Schade 522; Jim Mullins 564; "Fritz" Kirk 558.

KC NATIONAL: Leo Pankratz 553.

BUILDERS: Dick Rasmussen 284; K. Zimmerman 233.

Cincinnati —P— One of the best deals the Cincinnati Redlegs ever made was the one which brought Bob Purkey from Pittsburgh last winter.

The pitcher leads the team in wins, complete games, innings pitched and in shutouts. At the end of August the team had six shutouts. Three of them belonged to Purkey.

State Corn Yield Seen at 47 Bushels

Washington — Wisconsin's 1958 corn fields will yield 47 bushels per acre, according to estimates by the agriculture department.

The department said Wisconsin is expected to harvest a total of 127,464,000 bushels of corn.

Wisconsin's oat crop is expected to total 150,537,000 bushels, with a yield of 53 bushels per acre.

The department estimates Wisconsin bogs will produce 335,000 barrels of cranberries. Massachusetts, the leading cranberry state, is expected to have 570,000 barrels.

14,200 Farmers To Remove Land From Production

Madison — A total of 14,200 Wisconsin farmers and land-owners applied to put land in the 1959 federal conservation reserve bank, the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee reported.

Ivan Kindschi, committee chairman, said indications are good that Wisconsin will reach its goal of retiring 439,000 acres of cropland from production next year.

A farmer who puts land under the reserve program is paid a certain amount per acre if he agrees to follow outlined conservation practices. The average payment will be about $15 per acre.

Farmers who have applied for rates on their farm through their county ASC offices have until Sept. 26 to make final contract applications.

ing, tile drainage and untouched areas.

Radioactive phosphorus has been injected at various depths around corn stalks. When analyzed, scientists will be able to tell at which depth fertilizer accomplishes the most.

They learn this by measuring with Geiger counters the amount of radioactive phosphorus taken up by the plants. The fertilizer is placed in soils which are sub-soiled, disc harrowed and disc plowed at various depths, usually 12 inches.

Prior tests show that the highest recovery of phosphorus occurred in the tile drainage treatment, with little difference between the 14 and 21 inch deep phosphorus injections. Corn yields decreased in the order of tilling, midway between tile and check.

The plots were sprayed with Cynazin for weed control. Excellent results for all weeds except thistle were obtained. It is growing abundantly. Bay explains that a heavier application of the weed killer would have taken care of the thistles also. Four pounds per acre were used.

Corn on the Weyauwega farm is grown under various types of soil conservation projects including land leveling.

The County Agent Says

Has the payment for the conservation reserve portion of the Soil Bank program changed?

Generally the Conservation Reserve program will be the same as last year. The most significant change is an increase in the rate of payment to farmers for performing the practices and retiring their land from production. Every farmer who wishes to participate must apply for an acreage payment rate at the ASC office. Deadline for making this application is Sept. 10.

When should old plantings of strawberries be fertilized?

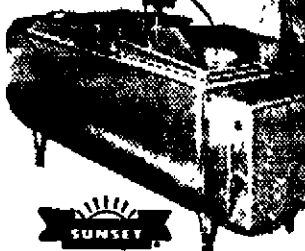

The most important time to fertilize strawberries is between Aug. 1 and 15. During this period, the number and quality of buds that will appear during the following year is determined. Three hundred to 400 pounds of 10-10-10 should be applied per acre. It is important to fertilize strawberries annually because of their shallow root system.

How many cases of Dutch Elm disease have been reported for Wisconsin?

As of Sept. 3, a total of 1,741 positive cases of Dutch Elm disease have been diagnosed by the state laboratory. These cases are confined to counties in southeastern Wisconsin. No cases have been observed farther north than Fond du Lac county. None has been found in the Fox Cities area.

No Yield Cuts Work On Waupaca Test Corn Crop Acreage

Waupaca — Yield on greenest in the county, the corn test plots at the Waupaca county farm will not be able to be made this year, but fertilizer results will be checked, according to Clyde Bay, University of Wisconsin soil specialist.

Yield cannot be checked because there was no yield. The test plots, like other county acreages, grew fair corn silage, but very little corn.

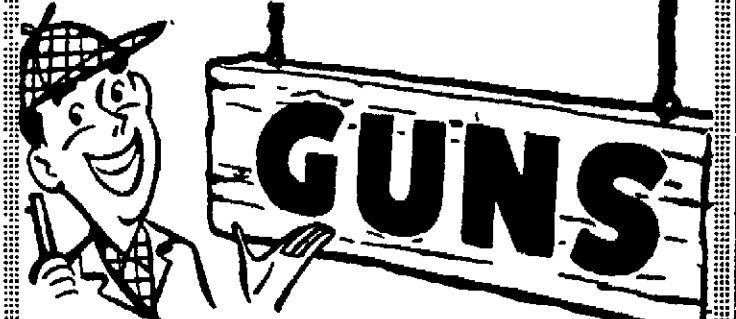

Possible explanations are lack of rain and poor night growing conditions. Although the corn on the plots appears to be some of the tallest and greenest in the county, the point of profitable harvest, Different Conditions

Acreage Slash Causes Slump in Can Corn Crop

State Production Below Nation, 1957; Snap Bean Harvest Seen as the Same

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — With acreage and yields cut back, the production of sweet corn for canning in Wisconsin is likely to be reduced about 24 per cent this year from last year, the Wisconsin Cannery association says.

For the country as a whole output is 13 per cent below last year, according to the most recent surveys of the U. S. department of agriculture.

The Wisconsin yield this year is calculated at about 2.6 tons to the acre, against three tons a year ago.

Same Bean Field

The estimated yield of snap beans is 1.5 tons to the acre for Wisconsin and 2.4 tons for the country, both figures being about the same as last year. Acreage was not significantly changed.

But a sharp cut in the output of beans for canning is forecast, with a 23 per cent reduction estimated for Wisconsin and 19 per cent for the United States as a whole.

The Wisconsin crop of lima beans is even more drastically reduced this year, the estimate being a decline of 41 per cent from last year due to a smaller acreage and lower productivity. For the country the production is slightly higher.

The yield of cabbage for kraut is 13.5 tons per acre for Wisconsin and 16 tons for the United States, which is slightly less than last year for the state, somewhat higher for the country as a whole.

The Sept. 1 crop condition for pickles is reported as 65 per cent for the state and 86 per cent for the United States, which is below normal for Wisconsin and about average for the country.

5 Important Questions

you should ask yourself before you buy a bulk milk cooler!

1. Will it cool when the power is off?
Haverly will cool without mechanical refrigeration and without electricity.
2. Will milk temperature go up between milkings?
Since copper coils the milk, the temperature always goes down, never goes up.
3. Will it provide cream line coating?
Copper provides continuous 24 hours a day cream line coating.
4. Does outside heat affect the temperature of the milk?
With Haverly's copper coil — all construction, not one BTU of heat that passes through the side walls or bottom ever reaches the milk, but is transferred by the copper into the cold zone. With a "d" of cork insulation the problem is reduced to a minimum.
5. Is mechanical agitation necessary between milkings?
Not in a Haverly because the copper coil walls give continuous slow but actual agitation 24 hours a day.

Feeder Pig Co-Op Backs Swine Pacemaker Plan

Hopes to Emulate Corn Program By Introducing Better Efficiency Into Raising Swine in Wisconsin

By RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

An achievement program to stimulate scientific hog production is being introduced to Wisconsin farmers this fall. It is the Wisconsin Pacemaker Pork Production program. In procedure and aims it is similar to the Wisconsin Pacemaker Corn Program that has made 100 - bushel yields common throughout the state.

Fred Giesler, University of Wisconsin animal husbandman, presented the details to members of the Wisconsin Agriculture Writers association last week at the headquarters of the Wisconsin Feeder Pig Marketing cooperative near Francis Creek.

"The pork program," said Giesler, "will concentrate on more efficient production of higher quality feeder pigs and market hogs. As in the corn program, farmers who participate will follow a prescription to meet high production standards."

Achievement Goals

These achievement goals have been set up:
Feeder pigs — average litter weight for the entire herd must be 320 pounds at eight weeks of age.
Market hogs — average litter weight must be 1,500 pounds at five months; 50 per cent of all hogs must grade U. S. No. 1 at market weight of about 200 pounds. They're aiming pretty high, one of the reporters commented.

That's for sure, Giesler admitted. The whole idea is to help farmers make real money with hogs, and to show them that anybody can do it if he sets his mind to it.

Express Enthusiasm
Norval Dvorak, general manager of the feeder pig co-op, expressed enthusiasm for the Pacemaker Program. So did Norbert Brandt, the organization's production manager.

"Farmers are thinking seriously about hogs these days," Dvorak observed. "With a good market right now they're making money, but the time is bound to come when it won't be so easy to show a profit."

Breeding, feeding and housing will be emphasized under the Pacemaker program. These three points, experts maintain, are just as important with hogs as with dairy cattle.

The idea isn't to persuade a lot of Wisconsin farmers to go whole hog with pigs. The market isn't ready to absorb a great deal more pork, but Giesler feels a farmer should make hog production a substantial sideline or not go into it at all.

"I would like to see 15 sows per farm," he said. Dvorak mentioned that seven sows is about average for Northeastern Wisconsin, with many farms having only three or four. That very day, he recalled, he had signed up a farmer for the co-op with only two sows.

Increased Income
Five sows should be good for about $800 gross income at prevailing market rates, according to the co-op manager. Fifteen sows, then, would mean $2,400.

"It's high time for the state to do a big, worthwhile job with hog production," Giesler maintained. "Neighboring states are moving ahead, and Wisconsin must keep abreast. Educational efforts are important, but not enough. We need to adopt an incentive program for worthwhile results."

County agricultural agents will be the link between the university and the farmers in the Pacemaker Pork Production program. The university will supply the experts, procedure and organization, and the county agents will help get the farmers enrolled and tie up the local ends.

More Efficiency

Giesler made a strong argument for the claim that hog production is facing a drastic revolution. Integration, multiple farrowing, contract buying, production evaluation and other programs are forcing swine producers to become more efficient.

Hogs rank second to dairy as a livestock enterprise in Wisconsin. The state is seventh nationally in hog numbers, with over 31 million pigs raised in 1957.

In 1956, according to official figures, the sale of hogs produced cash receipts of almost $100 million for Wisconsin farmers. At the same time about $61 million worth of pork was consumed at home. Total production ran to over 700 million pounds.

One thing the Pacemaker program will strive to do is increase the average litter size. Wisconsin does a little better than the national average, with 7.32 pigs from spring farrowing against a U.S. average of 7.12.

"Wisconsin Swine Selection cooperative figures show that as many as one out of every four pigs farrowed is being lost before market," Giesler brought out.

"If one more pig could be saved from each litter farrowed, Wisconsin could market an additional 100 million pounds of pork and put into producers' pockets an extra million to a million and a half dollars."

Giesler said that special attention will be given to sanitation and housing, disease and parasite control, better breeding programs for bigger litter size, better feed conversion, and better carcass quality.

Special recognition will be accorded farmers who achieve production goals under the program. Separate projects will be set up for junior participants as 4-H Club or Future Farmer members.

YOU GET MORE WHEN YOU BUY A CASE

COMPETITION IS TRYING TO CONFUSE YOU ABOUT Case-o-matic DRIVE

Here is the Truth...

Exactly what is Case-o-matic Drive? It is a skillfully engineered "marriage" of an exceptionally efficient torque converter and a standard multiple-gear transmission plus a conventional direct drive.

Is Case-o-matic Drive torque converter fully automatic? Yes. It is an improvement over the automatic transmission in the latest model automobile. With Case-o-matic Drive, you have a wide choice of working ranges... eight forward ranges in the Case-o-matic Drive 800 tractor... four or eight in the Case-o-matic Drive 400 and 600 tractors. In any working range selected, Case-o-matic Drive senses the load, increases pull-power as needed, instantly, precisely and automatically without clutching, shifting or stalling.

Does Case-o-matic Drive torque converter cost more to operate? No. Because the torque converter operates automatically, travel speed and working load are always perfectly balanced for greatest possible work output per hour, per day, per gallon of fuel. The engine operates in its most efficient range regardless of load because Case-o-matic Drive adjusts instantly for extra pull-power when it's needed. You never "gun" the engine or inject slugs of raw gas into the cylinders. Result — no oil dilution, no cylinder scoring, minimum carbon deposits — and the engine makes the most efficient use of every gallon of fuel.

What are the specific advantages of the Case-o-matic Drive torque converter? A Case-o-matic Drive tractor lets you operate in a higher working range than with a conventional-transmission tractor. This greater efficiency is possible because Case-o-matic Drive automatically adjusts pull-power to the load. As the load increases, pull-power increases up to 100%. Because there is no time-wasting down-shifting, up-shifting or stalling you can plow up to 15% more in a day. Accelerator and brakes give you precise control of both forward and rearward movement.

Can a Case-o-matic Drive tractor be operated in torque converter continuously? Yes. After you select the proper working range, you can stay in torque converter as long as you like. Case-o-matic Drive is engineered and built for long, hard continuous service. In fact, Case gives you a double warranty on the Case-o-matic Drive... a warranty for twice as long as the warranty on conventional transmissions in standard tractors.

Are clutch replacements necessary on a Case-o-matic Drive tractor? No. The hydraulically actuated clutches in Case-o-matic Drive are designed to last the life of the tractor. They are self-adjusting. There is no slipping, no burning, no occasion for excessive wear and consequent clutch replacement. Shock loads are absorbed, thus reducing wear on bearings, shafts, and gears. Power-train maintenance is kept to a minimum. Years are added to tractor life.

Does Case-o-matic Drive reduce wheel slippage or spinning? Yes. Depending on the load, up to 16% tire slippage is usually considered unavoidable with conventional-drive tractors.

This wasteful, tire-wearing, soil-tearing hazard is measurably minimized with Case-o-matic Drive. Torque is transmitted so smoothly to drive wheels you move out evenly and surely from a dead stop. Minutes wasted slipping the clutch or down-shifting to get started in heavy going are used instead to cover more ground, get more work done.

Is Case-o-matic Drive safer to operate in the field? Yes. The speed range is selected and the clutch fully engaged before the tractor is put in motion. Then, a slight touch of the accelerator and the tractor is rolling smoothly and safely. There is no dangerous jerking or bucking. In tight spots you move as slowly as you want, avoiding risk of damage to machinery.

Is Case-o-matic Drive safer to operate on the highway? Yes. With Case-o-matic Drive you have the tractor under complete control during starting and stopping, regardless of the load, by merely using brakes and accelerator. There is no danger of stalling the engine at busy intersections, railroad crossings or on grades.

Is Case-o-matic Drive easier and safer on short headlands, on row-end turnings and for close-quarter chore work in barns and yards? Yes. At headlands and row-ends you can slow to a crawl without clutching or shifting, by merely using the brakes. Your hands are free for steering and hydraulic control of implements. With Case-o-matic Drive you can "feel" your way, creep smoothly in barns, feedlots and through narrow doors and gates by using either brakes or accelerator.

Is it easy to change from Case-o-matic torque converter drive to direct drive? Yes. All it takes is a flick of your finger. Just flip a handy little lever under the steering wheel. You do it on the move, at any speed, without clutching or shifting. This "locks up" the torque converter so the engine is connected directly to the transmission as it is in any conventional tractor.

Does Case-o-matic Drive give more efficient power take-off operations? Yes. A Case-o-matic Drive tractor gives the independent PTO priority on engine power. The PTO shaft is attached directly to the engine flywheel and operates completely independent of the torque converter. When in torque converter at a fixed throttle setting, variations in travel speed due to varying load have little or no effect on engine RPM, so your PTO speed remains up, always keeps the driven machine operating at a maximum efficiency.

Does Case-o-matic Drive reduce operator fatigue? Yes. A Case-o-matic Drive tractor has the operating convenience and control of a modern car with an automatic transmission. You have complete control of the tractor with the accelerator and brakes. As a result, you feel fresher, more willing and able to enjoy family activities and community functions at the end of a day in the field.

Forecast Dim Future for Farmer, Better Business

Democratic Capitalism Hope for Bright Spot, Speakers Maintain

Waupaca — A dim future for agriculture and a relatively bright future for business in general was predicted by two speakers Tuesday afternoon during the second annual "Business and Management" conference sponsored by the First National Bank of Waupaca.

Any bright spots in the future will be brought about by democratic capitalism, said the third speaker at the program for Waupaca businessmen.

Farmers are in an unusual situation now said John M. Westmore, agricultural economist for the federal reserve bank of Chicago. He maintained that while business in general has seen a recession, farming economy is at a peak.

Lists Causes

The farming expert suggested the weather, hog and cattle prices and a strong demand for consumer products as the cause of good times for farmers.

Generally the weather in the United States has blessed crops and a bumper year is expected, even though Waupaca county has poor crops due to dry weather and short growing time.

Westmore pointed to the fact that yields are expected to be 25 per cent above records set last year.

Cattle and hog prices are another good indicator stated the economist. Cattle prices are high now but are expected to take a drop by 1961.

In 1955 and '56 hog prices reached 10 cents a pound, they went still higher this spring. Indications are that fall farrowing is up 13 per cent and that the spring crop hit the market, it can be expected to drop — meaning less money in the farmer's pocket said Westmore.

Durables Drop

Also during the recession, consumer demand for food products increased. The drop occurred in the purchase of durables such as automobiles, refrigerators and appliances while food expenditures were as high as 7 per cent over last year.

Record bumper crops naturally mean surplus can be expected again this year said the agricultural speaker. The real shadow over agriculture is the surplus problem he stated.

One solution is effective distribution of products.

Another suggestion is reduction of output. Free marketing without subsidies or government aids would balance the supply and demand. People would be moved out of agriculture quickly enough to make ghost towns out of many rural communities he said.

The problem of too many farmers producing too much is gradually being solved by itself since 25 per cent of farmers have moved from the farm since 1940 he said.

The other reduction alternative is making farming a public utility under government supervision. This amounts to socialism and is not politically feasible said Westmore.

All in all, he said the outlook ahead for agriculture was a dim one.

Contrary to the farm outlook, Tom Plank, assistant economic researcher of the First National Bank of Chicago, predicted a brighter business future for 1959. He judged his prediction on consumer, government and business spending.

Spending Stable

Although business is down, consumer spending is just below last year's mark he stated.

Much of the present recession can be chalked up to businessmen operating from present inventories instead of purchasing additional stock as they do in normal times.

Government spending is up this year, stated Plank. It equals all of the expenditures of private businesses. Plant and equipment expenditures are low this year.

While production is generally up, auto spending, steel production, and corporation net profits declined. Business failures are at an all time high, and inflation is an ever present danger.

Part of his optimistic guess is based on the growth of America. Plank said that population is increasing 3 million each year, that a new classroom has to be built every three hours for the next three years to handle student loads, and that by 1965 there will be five members at every table instead of four.

Talking on "Let's Have a Creeping Capitalism," Richard Brown, loan officer of the Marine-National Bank in Milwaukee, said that the attitude of "the world owes me a living" was fallacy.

Exchange Visits Could Assist World Peace

D. N. McDowell Cites Conclusion After Russia Trip

BY JAY JOSLYN

Post-Crescent Farm Editor

Stevens Point — "If we could tell our story to the Russians," D. N. McDowell told members of the Wisconsin Creameries' association Tuesday, "we would be a lot closer to peace."

McDowell

The director of the state department of agriculture related his impressions of the 12-day tour of Russia he took in July at the association's annual convention.

He said there are three major barriers between Americans and the Russians. They are atheistic Russian leadership, the language barrier and misrepresentation in the press of both sides.

Need More Exchange

A more extensive program of exchange visits is a solution, McDowell suggested. Visits to America have made the Russians respectful for our agriculture and they admit they are using our ideas.

McDowell said Russia is attempting to jump from the early nineteenth century to present agricultural techniques. His party saw oxen working in fields beside the most modern machinery.

A major obstacle to Russia's agricultural progress, McDowell said, is lack of passable roads.

On the other hand, other forms of transportation are very advanced. The party of 29 Midwesterners traveled covered socialism wasn't the answer to all problems, democratic capitalism stepped in. However, capitalism is being throttled, said the speaker. Union limits setting the amount of initiative a man can exert is an example.

Deficit spending, or buying more than can be paid for, is a threat to capitalism and Brown suggested that the virtue of thrift be put back on the once honored pedestal.

from Prague to Moscow, a distance of 1,200 miles, in two hours, 23 minutes aboard a Russian jet transport. The train trip from Moscow to Leningrad is along the straightest track in the world. The most dramatic insight into Russia can be had in Berlin.

Reconstruction with American aid has West Berlin residents bustling and happy, while in the Russians' East Berlin rubble is being removed by the most primitive methods and the people are hungry and oppressed, he said.

Relative Improvement

No matter how distasteful by American terms are conditions in Russia, McDowell said, they are relatively better than what the Russians have experienced in the past. Because much of the oppression of the czars was joined in by the church, and because of Marxian adversion to Christianity, religion is discredited and no churches are included in the reconstruction work.

However, McDowell said, the seed of Christianity is still alive in Russia.

Good Livestock

McDowell was much impressed by the dairy livestock. At Karkov he saw a collective farm on which milk parlor research is being done. The winter climate is combated by double walled parlors. Summer milking is done in open parlors.

The Karkov wheat was estimated at a 50 to 70 bushel an acre yield, but the corn was scrubby, he said.

Shelter Strip Plantings

The Russians fear America, he noted, and only with more exchange of ideas can the fear be diluted.

"If we, both of us, could tell our stories, we'd be on the way to peace," he said.
